BACKGROUND

The BLS Productivity Program has two primary types of productivity statistics:

- Labor productivity is a measure of economic performance that compares the amount of goods and services produced (output) with one input, labor hours worked to produce those goods and services.
- Multifactor productivity (MFP), or total factor productivity (TFP), compares output produced to the amount of combined inputs used to produce those goods and services. Inputs can include labor, capital, energy, materials, and purchased services.
