

[Date]

Dear [FDIC Legal Division Former Employee],

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) promotes confidence in the financial system by chartering new banks, supervising and monitoring financial institutions, paying insured depositors quickly, effectively managing failed financial institutions, and providing superior customer services. The FDIC must proactively ensure an ongoing state of readiness to be able to fulfill its statutory mission across different economic cycles.

Depending on the needs of the FDIC, positions in a number of sections of the Legal Division, in multiple geographic locations, may become available. To help maintain its state of readiness, the FDIC Legal Division is creating a database of contact information from those former employees, including retirees, who might be interested in returning to service in the Legal Division at some point in the future. The information collected from those interested will allow us to estimate the number and experience level of former staff potentially eligible to return to work with FDIC.

Please respond to LegalSPOG@fdic.gov at your earliest convenience, and no later than June 1, 2021, indicating either:

- Yes, I am interested in having my name placed in the database as a person potentially interested in returning to the FDIC if the need should arise; or
- No, I am not interested in having my name placed in the database.

If you respond “yes,” please provide your full name and your current mailing address, e-mail address, and telephone number. In addition, please feel free to note any subject matter areas in which you have expertise.

The FDIC will maintain your response in a secure database which we will use to manage outreach efforts should the FDIC need to add staff in the future. Responding to this letter does not obligate you to accept an invitation to return, and is not a guarantee of future employment. Assignments, if any, will be made based on skill and experience at the discretion of the FDIC.

Thank you in advance for your interest in returning to serve the FDIC in the event of a future need. If you have any questions, please send them to LegalSPOG@fdic.gov.

Regards,

/s/

Andrea F. Toliver

Senior Counsel/Strategic Planning and Operations Group