"(3) studies in Canada, Australia, and Great Britain consistently show that victims with developmental disabilities suffer repeated victimization because so few of the crimes against them are reported, and even when they are, there is sometimes a reluctance by police, prosecutors, and judges to rely on the testimony of a disabled individual, making individuals with developmental disabilities a target for criminal predators;

"(4) research in the United States needs to be done to—

"(A) understand the nature and extent of crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities;

"(B) describe the manner in which the justice system responds to crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

"(2) to collect data to measure the extent of the problem of crimes against individuals with developmental disabilities; and

"(3) to develop a basis to find new strategies to address the safety and justice needs of victims of crime who are individuals with developmental disabilities.

"SEC. 3. DEFINITION OF DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITY.

"In this Act, the term 'developmental disability' has the meaning given the term in section 102 of the Developmental Disabilities Assistance and Bill of Rights Act of 2000 [42 U.S.C. 15002].

"(2) the risk factors associated with victimization of individuals with developmental disabilities;

"SEC. 5. NATIONAL CRIME VICTIM'S SURVEY.

"Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act, as part of each National Crime Victim's Survey, the Attorney General shall include statistics relating to—

Substantive comments received by BJS in response to the Federal Register Notifications of OMB review of the National Prisoner Statistics Program, NPS-8 data collection

From: DAVID AZIZ
To: Shell, Tracy \(OJP\)
Subject: [EXTERNAL] Public Comments Re Capital Punishment
Date: Friday, November 10, 2023 12:50:46 AM

Is there any aggregate information published in this report on the victims or crimes committed by those on death row.

Such as age of victim, gender of victim, multiple victims or just one, relationship to victim, weapon used to kill of victims.

It certainly would give context regarding why this sentence has been imposed.

Sent from DA Pad

From: Kenneth Jansen
To: Snell, Tracy \(OJP\)
Subject: [EXTERNAL] comment on Capital Punishment Report of Inmates Under Sentence of Death.
Date: Saturday, November 18, 2023 2:56:57 PM

Dr Snell:

The information gathered by NPS-8 has tremendous practical utility for me. I teach criminal justice. The information on the application of capital punishment is an important topic of great interest to my students.

The program should support state and federal policymakers. The program provides the data necessary to separate fact from fiction and base policy on empirical evidence.

I hope that the NPS-8 program continues in force.

Thank you for your consideration. Have a great Thanksgiving!

Sincerely,

Ken Jansen

RE: Public Comment on Proposed Collection of Information - National Prisoner Statistics data series (NPS-8)

Dear Bureau of Justice Statistics,

I am writing on behalf of the Nevada Coalition Against the Death Penalty to express our support for the proposed collection of information related to capital punishment as part of the National Prisoner Statistics data series (NPS-8). This information is crucial for the public, criminal justice system stakeholders, decision-makers, and advocates to understand how the death penalty is functioning and establish a whole and informed understanding of the criminal justice system. Having access to this data, with as many data points as possible and preferably digitized, is important to hold institutions and their actors accountable, while measuring policy efficacy.

The quality and clarity of information collected under NPS-8 are of paramount importance. We recommend exploring ways to enhance the comprehensibility of the collected data, perhaps through improved categorization or additional contextual information with as many demographic and geographic data points as is reasonable. We also suggest avoiding bulk aggregates, or at least provide for means to sort the findings on a case by case basis. This will facilitate a better understanding of the complexities surrounding capital punishment in the United States, as well as where biases and disparities may present themselves in application. Embracing electronic submission methods, as suggested, would streamline the data collection process and encourage broader participation. In addition, employing electronic collection will allow the findings to be more easily disseminated and analyzed by system stakeholders and others.

This data gathering initiative plays a vital role in fostering transparency, accountability, and informed decision-making within the criminal justice system.

Thank you for considering our comments. We support the Bureau in continuing to uphold the highest standards in data collection and analysis.

Sincerely,

Mark C. Bettencourt, Jr.

Dear Bureau of Justice Statistics Department of Justice,

I am writing to express support for the proposed collection of information related to capital punishment as part of the National Prisoner Statistics data series (NPS-8). This information is crucial to understand how capital punishment is functioning and establish a complete and informed understanding of the criminal justice system. Having access to this data is important to hold institutions and their actors accountable.

I recommend including categories and background information in the data you collect, such as demographic and geographic data. Also, it would be helpful if the methodology provides for means to sort the findings on a case by case basis. This will facilitate a better understanding of the complexities surrounding capital punishment in the United States, as well as where biases and disparities may present themselves in application.

This data gathering initiative plays a vital role in fostering transparency, accountability, and informed decision-making within the criminal justice system. I urge the BJS to continue collecting this important data.

Thank you for considering my comments.

Thank you,
Caroline Sévilla

Dear Name:

Once again it is time to collect information about persons under sentence of death in your jurisdiction. Enclosed you will find NPS-8 and NPS-8A materials for calendar year 202X. The U.S. Census Bureau collects these data for the Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) under the authority of Title 34 U.S.C. § 10231. All information will be managed in accordance with the BJS Data Protection Guidelines (available at http://www.bjs.gov/content/pub/pdf/BJS_Data_Protection_Guidelines.pdf), which summarize the many federal statutes, regulations, and other authorities that govern BJS data and data collected and maintained under BJS's authority. The information that you provide makes it possible for us to produce an annual report on capital punishment, which is among the most requested BJS publications.

While your participation is voluntary, your assistance is extremely important. Because of your careful work and that of other data providers, our annual report is viewed as a reliable and accurate source of information on the death penalty in the United States. Results from the 2020 data collection can be found here, Capital Punishment, 2020 – Statistical Tables. Previous capital punishment reports can be accessed on the BJS website at <https://bjs.ojp.gov/topics/corrections/capital-punishment>.
