1. The entire process may be completed outside the United States if the child is residing abroad with a U.S. citizen parent who is a member of the U.S. Armed Forces and the child is authorized to accompany and reside abroad with the service member under official military orders. The child does not need to demonstrate the temporary physical presence, lawful admission, and maintenance of status requirements to be eligible for naturalization under INA section 322.

2. A U.S. citizen who is, or was, serving in the U.S. Armed Forces and who seeks to have the child obtain a Certificate of Citizenship under INA section 322 may count any time spent abroad on official U.S. military orders as part of the required five years of physical presence in the United States or its outlying possessions as long as the child is residing abroad with that service member under official military orders at the time of filing.

INA Section 322 For an Adopted Child

An adopted child of a U.S. citizen may obtain U.S. citizenship under INA section 322 only if he or she satisfies the specific provision of the U.S. immigration laws relating to adopted children that applies to Form N-600K.

Members of the U.S. Armed Forces

The entire process may be completed outside the United States if the child is residing outside the United States with a parent who is a member of the U.S. armed forces and the child is authorized to accompany and reside outside the United States with the service member under official military orders. The child does not need to demonstrate the temporary physical presence, lawful admission, or maintenance of lawful status requirements to be eligible for naturalization under INA section 322. Additionally, the military member may count any time spent outside the United States on official U.S. military orders as physical presence in the United States.

However, a child under these circumstances who is a lawful permanent resident may have already acquired citizenship, and therefore cannot obtain a Certificate of Citizenship through the N-600K process. See the USCIS Policy Manual Volume 12, Part H - Children of U.S. Citizens, Chapter 4, Automatic Acquisition of Citizenship after Birth (INA 320) at www.uscis.gov/policy-manual/volume-12-part-h-chapter-4.
