The selection of your targeted respondents

1. Do you have a customer list or something similar that defines the universe of potential respondents and do you have a sampling plan for selecting from this universe?
 Yes No

If the answer is yes, please provide a description of both below (or attach the sampling plan)? If the answer is no, please provide a description of how you plan to identify your potential group of respondents and how you will select them?

Response: We plan to identify our potential group of respondents primarily through our existing database of claimants who have been affected by the fire and flood events. This database includes individuals who have submitted claims for assistance or have been identified through outreach efforts conducted by our program. Additionally, we will leverage our partnership with local government agencies, community organizations, and other stakeholders involved in disaster recovery efforts to reach out to potential respondents who may not be captured in our database.

The program will utilize a combination of methods including online forms, telephone interviews, and in-person meetings to reach out to our selected respondents. This multi-modal approach will allow us to accommodate the preferences and accessibility of different individuals within our target population, ensuring comprehensive coverage and maximizing response rates.

Overall, our strategy for identifying and selecting potential respondents is designed to be inclusive, representative, and efficient, enabling us to gather necessary data from those directly impacted by the Hermit's Peak Canyon fire and flood events.
