NAMs Pre-Training Registration

This training supports the EPA's New Approach Methods (NAMs) initiative. NAMs include any technologies, methodologies, approaches, or combinations thereof that can be used to provide information on chemical hazard and potential human exposure that can avoid or significantly reduce the use of testing on animals. NAMs enable risk assessors to more rapidly address public health challenges and chemical regulation. Thank you for your interest in this training opportunity on [EPA NAMs tool]!

Indicated below, you must fill in your contact information to register for this training. All other responses are voluntary. Read the burden statement for this survey collection: <https://www.epa.gov/chemical-research/nams-training-survey-burden-statement>.
