

Post-Law School Activities

Select the appropriate category under your current law school status. Do not enter information about activities performed during law school (e.g., internships, externships) or part-time post-law school graduation activities. This section applies solely to full-time activities that begin after law school graduation (e.g., clerkships, legal fellowships, and full-time graduate law programs not linked to a joint-degree program). Do not enter part-time activities in this section.

Directions for Current Law Students

- Applicants who will not graduate from law school this academic year (e.g., SLIP applicants seeking internships prior to law school graduation) should check "Not Applicable" at the end of the section.
- Applicants who will graduate from law school this academic year should select the appropriate option under "CURRENT LAW STUDENTS" below.

Directions for Law School Graduates

- Applicants who have graduated from law school should select the appropriate option under "LAW SCHOOL GRADUATES" below.
- Applicants who graduated from law school in winter/spring/summer 2015 must select an option available to LAW SCHOOL GRADUATES or "Not Applicable." Recent graduates who have not accepted a full-time eligibility-preserving activity that starts within 9 months of graduation by the application deadline are not eligible for the Honors Program. See Honors Program eligibility.
- Applicants serving in a full-time judicial clerkship or legal fellowship who are earning an LL.M or other graduate degree through part-time attendance should enter only their full-time clerkship or legal fellowship information on this screen. Enter part-time graduate degree information on the Legal Education or Non-Legal Education screen, as appropriate.

Special Instructions for Joint-Degree Applicants

- Applicants who are simultaneously earning (or who simultaneously earned) a JD and another graduate degree (e.g., JD/LLM, JD/MBA,) should enter information relating the non-JD degree in the Non-Legal Education or Legal Education section, as appropriate. Do not enter information about the non-JD degree on this screen.
- Current students simultaneously earning a law degree and another advanced degree through a joint-degree program who will not complete all degree requirements and graduate from both programs this academic year should select "Not Applicable" at the end of this section.
- Current students simultaneously earning a law degree and another advanced degree through a joint-degree program who will complete all degree requirements and graduate have graduated from both degree programs this academic year should select the appropriate option under "CURRENT LAW STUDENTS" below.
- Law school graduates should select one of the options under "LAW SCHOOL GRADUATES" below.

CURRENT LAW STUDENTS:

- I am applying for, but have not yet accepted a full-time judicial clerkship, legal fellowship, or Presidential Management Fellowship to begin after law school graduation.
- I have accepted a full-time judicial clerkship, Presidential Management Fellowship, or full-time legal fellowship to begin after law school graduation. Clerkships and legal fellowships should be approximately one year in duration; the Department reviews shorter durations on a case-by-case basis. Part-time and short-term clerkships/fellowships, including short-term school sponsored "Bridge and Gap" fellowships do not qualify.
- I have been accepted into a full-time graduate law program to begin following law school graduation.
- I will graduate in the coming academic year, and am currently seeking full-time legal employment to begin following law school graduation.

LAW SCHOOL GRADUATES:

To clear an erroneous selection, select "Not Applicable" at the end of the section. This will automatically remove prior selections
