Dear <Coordinator or Principal Name>,

Your school has been selected to participate in the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). [2: Participation in the NTPS will replace your school’s participation in the 2023–24 Private School Survey (PSS) and will ensure your school is listed on the NCES website with your NCES ID.] [C: Your school’s principal has indicated that you will serve as your school’s NTPS survey coordinator.] Only a small percentage of schools and teachers are selected to participate; therefore, your school’s participation is vital to ensuring that we can provide policymakers and researchers with reliable, nationally representative data on teachers’ professional backgrounds, teaching fields, workloads, and working conditions.

The NTPS is a nationwide sample survey of elementary and secondary schools and the principals and teachers who staff them. It is a primary source of information about what is happening in K–12 schools across the United States. The survey is administered by the U.S. Census Bureau on behalf of the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), the statistical agency within the U.S. Department of Education.

[C: As survey coordinator, we//P: We] request your assistance with the following tasks:

1. Complete or ensure the online completion of the Teacher Listing Form (TLF) using the enclosure labeled “Instructions for completing the Teacher Listing Form.”

You can complete the TLF or give it to the staff member who can best provide information about the teachers at your school, including each teacher’s name, e-mail address, and subject matter taught.

2. Complete or ensure the online completion of the School Questionnaire using the enclosure labeled “Instructions for completing the School Questionnaire.”

You can complete the School Questionnaire or give it to the staff member who can best answer questions about enrollment, instructional time, and programs and services offered at your school.

3.[C: Give the enclosure labeled “Instructions for completing the Principal Questionnaire” to the principal or administrator at your school.//P: Use the enclosure labeled “Instructions for completing the Principal Questionnaire” to complete the Principal Questionnaire online.]

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the purpose of the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS)?

The purpose of the NTPS is to provide policymakers and researchers with relevant and timely data on the characteristics and conditions of America's public, charter, and private K–12 schools and the professionals who work in them. The data collected permit detailed analyses of the characteristics of schools, principals, teachers, and students. The data also link NTPS findings across questionnaires, including the follow-up questionnaires, which enable researchers to examine the relationships among multiple elements of the education system. For example, researchers can study the relationship between principal years of experience and teacher job satisfaction or teacher attrition and school climate.

The NTPS has been designed with input from state and local education agencies, school administrators, teachers, education policymakers, and researchers through the numerous organizations representing these various data providers and data users. For more information about the NTPS, please visit our website at <https://nces.ed.gov/surveys/ntps>.

Why is my school's participation important?

The NTPS is a primary source of information about what is happening in K–12 schools across the United States from the perspective of administrators and teachers. Only a small percentage of schools are selected to participate; therefore, your school is important for the success of this survey.

[2: Participation in the NTPS will replace your school's participation in the 2023–24 Private School Survey (PSS). The PSS is used to generate an NCES ID number for your school, which many private and federal grants require as part of their application process. Your response to this survey ensures your school retains this NCES ID and is listed on the NCES website.]

How are the NTPS data used?

The data from the NTPS are used by Congress, the U.S. Department of Education, state education agencies, public school districts, and education research organizations to:

1. Evaluate the effects of school workplace conditions, salaries, and training opportunities on the educational workforce;
2. Assess school staffing practices and personnel policies;
3. Aid in the U.S. Department of Education's program planning in the areas of teacher shortage, teaching policies, and teacher education;
4. Measure teacher and principal attrition and retention through follow-up surveys.

How long does it take to complete a NTPS questionnaire?

While the surveys will vary in length, each questionnaire will take approximately 15 to 40 minutes to complete.

Will my school's and individual staff members' data remain confidential?

Yes, both the U.S. Department of Education and the U.S. Census Bureau follow strict procedures to protect the confidentiality of study participants. [1: All of the information you provide may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law (20 U.S.C. §9573 and 6 U.S.C. §151). In addition, your responses to the survey questions will not be shared with any of your school staff or administration. Participation is voluntary, but responses are necessary to make the results of this study accurate and timely.//2: Basic school information such as school name, contact information, school type or program emphasis, religious orientation or affiliation of the school, association membership, grades taught and the number of students by grade, number of students by race/ethnicity, and the number of full-time-equivalent teachers is published on <http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/pss/privateschoolsearch/>. The remaining information is used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law (20 U.S.C. §9573 and 6 U.S.C. §151).]

Who authorizes this survey?

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), within the U.S. Department of Education, is authorized to conduct this survey by the Education Sciences Reform Act of 2002 (ESRA 2002, 20 U.S.C. §9543). The U.S. Census Bureau administers this survey on behalf of the NCES. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved this survey. The OMB control number is 1850-0598 and the approval expiration date is XX/XX/2026.

Who can answer general questions regarding this survey?

The U.S. Census Bureau can answer any questions you have about the survey. Staff can be reached by phone at 1-888-595-1338, Monday through Friday, between 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. (Eastern Time). At any other time, please leave a message and someone will return your call as soon as possible. The U.S. Census Bureau is also available to answer your questions via e-mail at ntps@census.gov.

Text:

Dear <Principal Name> or School Principal,

The 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS) is your opportunity to tell policymakers about your school and your experiences as a principal. The data produced by the NTPS allow you to compare:

- Your influence on your school's curriculum, discipline policy, and budget to that of other principals.
- Your experience and training to that of other <school type> school principals.
- Your school's performance evaluation process and professional development for both principals and teachers to that of other schools.
- Your annual salary to the salaries of other <level> school principals.

The success of this national survey depends on your participation. Only a small percentage of schools and principals are selected to participate. We cannot substitute another principal for you. With your participation, we can provide data on the characteristics and conditions of America's schools and the professionals who work in them.

Dear School Head/Principal,

Your school has been selected to participate in the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). Only a small percentage of schools and teachers are selected to participate; therefore, your school's participation is important to ensure that we can provide policymakers and researchers with reliable, nationally representative data on teachers' professional backgrounds, teaching fields, workloads, and working conditions.

The NTPS is a nationwide sample survey of elementary and secondary schools and the principals and teachers who staff them. The survey is a primary source of information about what is happening in K–12 schools across the United States. The survey is administered by the U.S. Census Bureau on behalf of the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), the statistical agency within the U.S. Department of Education. Participation in the NTPS will replace your school's participation in the 2023–24 Private School Survey (PSS). The PSS is used to generate an NCES ID number for your school, which many private and federal grants require as part of their application process. Your response to this survey ensures your school retains this NCES ID.

We request your assistance in ensuring the completion of the following enclosed NTPS questionnaires:

- Complete the Teacher Listing Form or give it to the staff member who can best provide information about the teachers at your school.
- Complete the Private School Questionnaire or give it to the staff member who can best answer questions about enrollment, instructional time, and programs and services offered at your school.
- Complete the Private School Principal Questionnaire. This questionnaire asks about the background and experiences of the school head or principal.

Please ensure the completion of the questionnaires within two weeks.

If you have any questions about the survey, please contact the U.S. Census Bureau at 1-888-595-1338 between 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. (Eastern Time) Monday through Friday. Alternatively, you can write to:

Dear <Principal or Coordinator Name>,

Earlier this school year, we invited your school to participate in the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS) by completing a Teacher Listing Form, School Questionnaire, and Principal Questionnaire online. The NTPS is an important source of information about schools across the United States, and we need your help to make this survey a success! All schools, school staff, and students ultimately benefit when good data help legislators and administrators make good decisions. [2: Participation in the NTPS will replace your school's participation in the 2023–24 Private School Survey (PSS) and will maintain your school's valid NCES ID on our website.]

According to our records, one or more of your school's questionnaires have not been completed. If these questionnaire(s) were recently completed online, thank you. If not, please distribute the enclosed paper questionnaire(s), along with the postage paid return envelope, to the appropriate staff. Ask the staff to complete and mail the form(s) to us as soon as possible. Alternatively, the survey(s) may be completed online using the URL and User ID provided on the questionnaire cover. The U.S. Census Bureau will call you in the coming weeks regarding missing questionnaires.

As a reminder, you can log into the NTPS Respondent Portal to check the completion status of your school's questionnaires. The NTPS Respondent Portal contains additional information about the NTPS, including data results from previous surveys and ideas to encourage your school staff's participation.

- Access the NTPS Respondent Portal at <https://respond.census.gov/ntpsportal>

Subject: Respond by <date> – Teacher List for an important U.S. Department of Education survey

Body:

Dear <Coordinator or Principal Name>,

We've contacted you throughout the school year to request a list of your school's teachers for the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). The NTPS is administered by the U.S. Census Bureau on behalf of the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), the statistical agency within the U.S. Department of Education, and it has been endorsed by <AGENCY> as well as many other organizations.

We need your list of teachers so that we may sample teachers to take part in the teacher survey. Only a small percentage of schools and teachers are selected to participate; therefore, your school's participation is important to ensure that we can provide policymakers and researchers with reliable, nationally representative data on teachers' professional backgrounds, teaching fields, workloads, and working conditions.

The Teacher Listing Form collects the name, e-mail address, and subject matter taught for each teacher in your school. [1: To assist with this request, we were able to partially complete your school's list of teachers using a publicly available source. We need your help to ensure that this list is up-to-date and only includes staff currently working as teachers in your school.] Please complete your school's Teacher Listing Form or forward this e-mail to the person who can best provide this information.

Dear <Principal Name> or School Principal,

We have contacted you throughout this school year regarding the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). According to our records, one or more of your school’s questionnaires have not yet been completed. Time is running out to participate in this important survey and to let your voice be heard! With your help, we can continue to provide policymakers and researchers with reliable data on our nation’s schools and principals.

If these questionnaire(s) were recently completed, thank you. If not, please complete the enclosed paper questionnaire(s) as soon as possible and return them to us in the postage-paid envelope. These questionnaire(s) may also be completed online using the URL and User ID provided on the cover page. In the coming weeks, a U.S. Census Bureau representative will call or visit your school to help you complete any outstanding questionnaires.

[2: As a reminder, participation in the NTPS will replace your school’s participation in the 2023–24 Private School Survey (PSS). The PSS is used to generate an NCES ID number for your school, which many private and federal grants require as part of their application process. Without your response to this survey, your school’s NCES ID cannot remain active and will no longer be listed on the NCES website.]

If you have any questions about the survey, please contact the U.S. Census Bureau at 1-888-595-1338 or by e-mail at ntps@census.gov.

We greatly appreciate your school’s participation in this important survey.

Sincerely,

Chris Chapman

Frequently Asked Questions

For more information about the NTPS, please visit our website at <http://nces.ed.gov/surveys/ntps>.

What is the purpose of the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS)?

The purpose of the NTPS is to provide policymakers and researchers with relevant and timely data on the characteristics and conditions of America's public, charter, and private K–12 schools and the professionals who work in them. The NTPS has been designed with input from state and local education agencies, school administrators, teachers, education policymakers, and researchers through the numerous organizations representing these various data providers and data users.

Why is my participation in the NTPS important?

The NTPS is a primary source of information about what is happening in K–12 schools in the United States from the perspective of administrators and teachers. Only a small percentage of teachers are selected to participate; therefore, your participation is important for the success of this survey. You were chosen for this survey based on numerous factors, including your geographical location, the makeup of the school population you serve, and the subject(s) that you teach. We cannot substitute another teacher for you.

How are the NTPS data used?

The data from the NTPS are used by Congress, the U.S. Department of Education, state education agencies, public school districts, and education research organizations to:

1. Evaluate the effects of school workplace conditions, salaries, and training opportunities on the educational workforce;
2. Assess school staffing practices and personnel policies;
3. Aid in the U.S. Department of Education's program planning in the areas of teacher shortage, teaching policies, and teacher education; and
4. Measure teacher and principal attrition and retention through follow-up surveys.

How long does it take to complete the NTPS Teacher Questionnaire?

The Teacher Questionnaire takes approximately 40 minutes to complete. However, your work does not need to be completed in one sitting as you can save it and return to it later.

The NTPS also includes a second phase, which will take place next year. Based on your responses to the Teacher Questionnaire, you may be selected for a much shorter follow-up survey to help us learn about any changes in your career and the experiences that may have affected your decisions.

Will my data remain confidential?

Yes, both the U.S. Department of Education and the U.S. Census Bureau follow strict procedures to protect the confidentiality of study participants. Your responses to the survey questions will not be shared with your school administration. All of the information you provide may be used only for statistical purposes and may not be disclosed, or used, in identifiable form for any other purpose except as required by law (20 U.S.C. §9573 and 6 U.S.C. §151). Participation is voluntary, but responses are necessary to make the results of this study accurate and timely.

Who authorizes this survey?

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), within the U.S. Department of Education, is authorized to conduct this survey by the Education Sciences Reform Act of 2002 (ESRA 2002, 20 U.S.C. §9543). The U.S. Census Bureau administers this survey on behalf of the NCES. The Office of Management and Budget (OMB) approved this survey. The OMB control number is 1850-0598 and the approval expiration date is XX/XX/XXXX.

Who should I contact if I have questions about this survey?

The U.S. Census Bureau can answer any questions you have about the survey. Staff can be reached by phone at 1-888-595-1338, Monday through Friday, between 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. (Eastern Time). At any other time, please leave a message and someone will return your call as soon as possible. The U.S. Census Bureau is also available to answer your questions via e-mail at ntps@census.gov.

Dear <Teacher Name>,

The National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) and the U.S. Census Bureau are dedicated to providing policymakers and researchers with the most comprehensive data available on our country's schools and teachers. To accomplish this, we need your help.

You've been selected to complete the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). The NTPS will occur in two phases over the next two school years. For the first phase of the survey, please complete the 2023–24 NTPS Teacher Questionnaire. This is your opportunity to tell policymakers about your experiences and express your opinions as a teacher in your school.

The success of this national survey depends on your participation, which helps us provide data that accurately represent the experiences of teachers across the United States. Only a small percentage of teachers are selected to participate, so your response will also represent the voices of your colleagues.

Please complete the enclosed questionnaire within one week and return it to the U.S. Census Bureau using the enclosed postage-paid envelope. Your responses to the survey questions will not be shared with your school administration.

The U.S. Department of Education, state and local education agencies, and researchers use the NTPS data to understand the professional background, teaching field, workload, and working conditions of teachers in the United States. In addition, the reports produced from this survey allow you to compare your experiences as a teacher, including your salary, workload, and attitudes toward teaching, with other private school teachers. We will also reach back out to a small number of survey participants next year to learn more about teacher attrition and retention.

If you have any questions about the survey, please contact the U.S. Census Bureau at 1-888-595-1338 between 8:00 a.m. and 8:00 p.m. (Eastern Time) Monday through Friday. Alternatively, you can write to:

Subject: We mailed your U.S. Department of Education Teacher Survey invitation to your school

Body:

Dear <Teacher Name>,

We recently sent you an e-mail requesting your participation in the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). The NTPS is a nationwide sample survey of the teaching and working conditions in schools across the United States. It is administered by the U.S. Census Bureau on behalf of the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES), the statistical agency within the U.S. Department of Education, and it has been endorsed by <AGENCY> as well as many other organizations.

Today, we mailed your survey invitation to your school's address. [IC//ICPS//ICPT: It was sent as part of a larger survey package that was addressed to your school's NTPS Survey Coordinator, <Coordinator or Principal Name>, and included instructions for distributing your survey invitation directly to you.] [I/IC//ICPS//ICPT//IPT: The survey invitation package includes $<X> for you as a token of our appreciation for your participation in the 2023–24 NTPS.] [ICPS: In addition, if <all/most> of the teachers selected to represent your school respond, we will send your school $<XXX> for use to benefit your school, fellow teachers, or students.] [ICPT//IPT: Upon receiving your response, we will mail you an additional $20.]

The NTPS will occur in two phases over the next two school years. For the first phase of the survey, please complete the 2023–24 NTPS Teacher Questionnaire within one week.

Third Teacher Mailout Letter with Login for Teacher Questionnaire and Paper Questionnaire

NTPS-23L(PS//PT) (PS = promised school-level monetary incentive; PT = promised teacher monetary incentive)

<Date>

Dear <Teacher Name>,

A few weeks ago, we sent you a second invitation to complete the Teacher Questionnaire online for the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS), a nationwide survey of elementary and secondary schools and the teachers and principals who staff them. We wanted to take an opportunity to share selected findings from the 2020–21 NTPS:

- On average, teachers in traditional public schools had XX years of teaching experience. Private and charter school teachers had an average of XX and XX years of teaching experience, respectively.
- Overall, XX percent of teachers like the way things are run at their school. This includes XX percent of public school teachers, XX percent of private school teachers, and XX percent of charter school teachers.

For this first phase of the NTPS, please complete the Teacher Questionnaire. We need your help to continue to provide an accurate view of teachers in schools across the country. Policymakers at the state, federal, and local levels use these data to set education policy and improve teacher and principal working conditions. Next school year, we will collect data on teacher attrition and retention from a small number of survey participants.

According to our records, you have not yet completed the survey. If you have recently completed the survey online, thank you. If not, please complete the survey online using the login information provided below, or complete the enclosed paper questionnaire and return it to us in the postage-paid envelope as soon as possible. [PS: If <all/most> of the teachers selected to represent your school respond, we will send your school $<XXX> for use to benefit your school, fellow teachers, or students.//PT: Upon receiving your questionnaire, we will mail you $20 to thank you for your participation.]

We recently asked you to help the U.S. Department of Education by completing your Teacher Questionnaire for the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). We wanted to take an opportunity to share selected findings from previous surveys:

- On average, regular full-time teachers in <ST_TYPE> schools earned a base teaching salary of $<SALARY1> for the 2020–21 school year.
- On average, <PERCENT1> percent of regular full-time teachers in <ST_TYPE> schools held a job outside the school system during the 2020–21 school year, earning an average of $<SALARY2>.

We need your help to produce representative data for <ST_TYPE> school teachers this year. Policymakers at the state, federal, and local levels use these data to set education policy and improve teacher and principal working conditions. This is your chance to let your voice be heard!

If you have recently completed the survey, thank you. If not, please complete the survey online as soon as possible. You will soon receive a paper Teacher Questionnaire at your school address in case you would prefer to complete a paper form. [PS: If <all/most> of the teachers selected to represent your school respond, we will send your school $<XXX> for use to benefit your school, fellow teachers, or students.//PT: Upon receiving your response, we will mail you $20 to thank you for your participation.]

Subject: U.S. Department of Education Survey Reminder

Body:

Dear <Teacher Name>,

Over the past two months, we have asked you to share your experiences as an educator by completing our Teacher Questionnaire for the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). Most recently, we mailed a paper Teacher Questionnaire to you at your school address. We know that your time is valuable, but we need your help to continue to provide an accurate view of teachers in schools across the country. Policymakers at the state, federal, and local levels use these data to set education policy and improve teacher and principal working conditions. Without your response, there may not be enough <STATE or SCHOOL TYPE> <SCHOOL LEVEL> teachers represented in the data which means policymakers and researchers will not learn as much about them.

If you have recently responded to the survey, thank you. If you have not yet done so, please respond online or by mail as soon as possible. [PS: If <all/most> of the teachers selected to represent your school respond, we will send your school $<XXX> for use to benefit your school, fellow teachers, or students.//PT: Upon receiving your response, we will mail you $20 to thank you for your participation.]

Fourth Teacher Mailout Letter to Survey Coordinator or School Principal

NTPS-24LP(PS) (PS = promised school-level monetary incentive)

<Date>

Dear <Coordinator/Principal Name>,

We have been contacting you throughout the school year to ask you to encourage selected teachers to share their experiences as educators by completing our Teacher Questionnaire for the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). With your help, we can obtain an accurate view of teachers' professional backgrounds and working conditions across the U.S. Your assistance and your teachers' participation in this effort are greatly appreciated.

We recently mailed a paper Teacher Questionnaire to each selected teacher at your school who, according to our records, has not yet completed the survey online. If any of these teacher(s) have already completed the survey, please thank them on our behalf.

You can view the status of each teacher's questionnaire and access resources to assist you in encouraging participation from the selected teachers by logging into the Respondent Portal.

- Go to the NTPS Respondent Portal at <https://respondent.census.gov/ntpsportal>
- Log in using this User ID: <USER ID>

Please remind each teacher to complete their survey. [PS: If <all/most> of the teachers selected to represent your school respond, then we will send your school $<XXX> to use as you wish to benefit your school, teachers, or students.]

If you have any questions about the survey, please contact the U.S. Census Bureau at 1-888-595-1338 or by e-mail at ntps@census.gov.

Thank you for helping ensure that we receive all responses from your school.

Dear <Principal Name>:

Thank you for the great work that you are doing providing students with opportunities to thrive. The job of school principal is critical for our country's growth, and from my own personal experience, I know the role has many demands for your time and presence. In addition to your many daily demands, I am writing to ask you to be a part of an important study that informs the U.S. Department of Education (Department) on the state of K-12 education in America.

The Department is committed to collecting critical information about what is happening in our nation's K-12 schools from the perspectives of the principals and teachers who lead them. The Department's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is currently conducting the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). Only a small percentage of principals are randomly selected to participate in the NTPS, and we cannot substitute another principal for you in this study because doing so would make the data unrepresentative of principals like yourself.

The NTPS collects information that can only be obtained from principals about your education priorities, influence, challenges your school may be facing, and principal attrition. We also ask teachers about their experiences in the classroom, workloads, autonomy, and challenges. This study has been conducted for more than 30 years, allowing us to understand changes in staff demographics, working conditions, and job satisfaction. The survey is an opportunity to share your voice in Washington, D.C.!

Thank you for the great work you are doing providing students with opportunities to thrive. I know from my own personal experience as a classroom teacher for 17 years that your role has many demands for your time and presence. The work you do every day for your students is critical to their academic and personal success. Today, I am writing to ask you to be a part of an important study that informs the U.S. Department of Education (Department) on the state of K-12 education in America.

The Department is committed to collecting critical information about what is happening in our nation's K-12 schools from the perspectives of the teachers and principals who lead them. The Department's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) is currently conducting the National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS). Only a small percentage of teachers are randomly selected to participate in the NTPS, and we cannot substitute another teacher for you in this study because doing so would make the data unrepresentative of teachers like yourself.

The NTPS collects information that can only be obtained from teachers about your experiences in the classroom, workload, autonomy, and challenges. We also ask principals about their education priorities, influence, the challenges your school may be facing, and principal attrition. This study has been conducted for more than 30 years, allowing us to understand changes in staff demographics, working conditions, and job satisfaction. The survey is an opportunity to share your voice in Washington, D.C.!

[NOTE: Only include the following bracketed text below in the email version of this letter:

You will be receiving an invitation in the mail soon. To take the survey now, please click on this link and log in using this user ID: < fill>]

Thank you for considering participating in this important data collection. We believe all students in our education system deserve the best education possible, and we appreciate the important role teachers play in this work. Your voice matters. If you have any questions, please contact Maura Spiegelman at maura.spiegelman@ed.gov.

Summer Thank You Email

Subject: Thank you – we couldn't have done it without you!

Body:

Dear <Teacher or Principal Name>,

I hope you are enjoying your summer and looking forward, as we are, to the beginning of the next school year.

On behalf of the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) and the U.S. Department of Education, I would like to thank you for making the 2023–24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS) a success! Your responses to questions on topics such as school climate, training, and job satisfaction have helped us present an accurate view of <teachers or principals> across the country and will be used by policymakers across the education sector.

As a sign of our sincere gratitude, an official thank you letter from Secretary Miguel Cardona will be mailed to the home mailing address that you provided on the 2023-24 NTPS.

We will be releasing findings from the 2023–24 NTPS next year. These findings, as well as reports based on previous administrations of the NTPS, will be posted to the NCES website at <http://www.nces.ed.gov/surveys/ntps> upon release. I encourage you to explore prior reports and our NTPS state dashboard for state-level findings for examples of how these data are used to inform decisionmakers. Summer Thank You Letter – Principal – Public School

July X, 2024

<Principal Name>
<School Name>
<School Street Address>
<School City, State, ZIP Code>]

Dear <Principal Name>:

Congratulations on everything you, your staff, and your students have accomplished this year. Thank you for all the effort and time that you have put into your school. This has been most evident over the last few years. During that time, you have effectively used the unprecedented Federal resources from the American Rescue Plan and the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act to focus on academic recovery and overall student well-being. Thanks to your leadership and stewardship of these funds, we have experienced some of the greatest one-year achievement growth since 2009. There has also been a significant increase in mental health supports offered in your school under your watch.

I want to personally thank you for taking time out of your busy schedule to represent yourself and your colleagues by participating in the 2023-24 National Teacher and Principal Survey (NTPS).

The U.S. Department of Education is committed to collecting critical information about what is happening in our nation's K-12 schools from the perspectives of the principals and teachers who staff them. Thanks to <principals> like you who responded to the NTPS, policymakers and other education leaders will better understand the characteristics and experiences of school staff on important education topics such as teacher and principal preparation, working conditions, and job satisfaction. Only a small percentage of <principals> were selected to participate in the NTPS, and your participation was important for the success of this survey.

More information about the NTPS and its teacher and principal follow-up surveys, including tables and reports based on data from the 2023-24 NTPS and earlier administrations, can be found at:

Thank you again for your time and have a wonderful summer!
