SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

I. Background

The Department of Labor, as part of the continuing effort to reduce paperwork and respondent (i.e., employer) burden, conducts a preclearance consultation program to provide the public with an opportunity to comment on proposed and continuing information collection requirements in accordance with the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995 (PRA) (44 U.S.C. 3506(c)(2)(A)). This program ensures that information is in the desired format, reporting burden (time and costs) is minimal, the collection instruments are clearly understood, and OSHA's estimate of the information collection burden is accurate. The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSH Act) (29 U.S.C. 651 et seq.) authorizes information collection by employers as necessary or appropriate for enforcement of the OSH Act or for developing information regarding the causes and prevention of occupational injuries, illnesses, and accidents (29 U.S.C. 657). The OSH Act also requires that OSHA obtain such information with minimum burden upon employers, especially those operating small businesses, and to reduce to the maximum extent feasible unnecessary duplication of effort in obtaining information (29 U.S.C. 657).

The Ionizing Radiation Standard specifies a number of collection of information requirements. The basic purpose of the collections of information in the Ionizing Radiation Standard is to document that employers are providing their workers with protection from ionizing radiation exposure. The collections of information contained in the Standard include: monitoring worker exposure to ionizing radiation, posting caution signs at radiation areas, reporting worker overexposure to OSHA, maintaining exposure records, and providing exposure records to current and former workers.

II. Special Issues for Comment

OSHA has a particular interest in comments on the following issues:

- Whether the proposed information collection requirements are necessary for the proper performance of the agency's functions to protect workers, including whether the information is useful;
- The accuracy of OSHA's estimate of the burden (time and costs) of the information collection requirements, including the validity of the methodology and assumptions used;
- The quality, utility, and clarity of the information collected; and
- Ways to minimize the burden on employers who must comply; for example, by using automated or other technological information, and transmission techniques.

III. Proposed Actions

OSHA is requesting that OMB extend the approval of the information collection requirements contained in the Ionizing Radiation Standard. The agency is requesting an adjustment increase of 11,479 burden hours from 59,077 to 70,556 hours. This increase is primarily due to increasing the percentage of affected establishments that may be using ionizing radiation in each industry identified as using ionizing radiation. Also, the agency is requesting an adjustment increase in capital cost from $8,892,917 to $11,461,149, a total increase of $2,568,232. The increase is due to increases in both the estimated number of employees being monitored and the costs for exposure monitoring badges.

OSHA will summarize the comments submitted in response to this notice and will include this summary in the request to OMB to extend the approval of the collection of information requirements.

Type of Review: Extension of a currently approved collection.

Title: Ionizing Radiation Standard.

OMB Control Number: 1218–0103.

Affected Public: Business or other for-profits.

Number of Respondents: 25,631.

Average Time per Response: Varies.

Estimated Total Burden Hours: 70,556.
