Special Instructions: EMAIL From Rob Wallace:

The "Official" document I have is from 2014 and states the following regarding collecting recordings:

Informed Consent: Proper informed consent shall be obtained from all individuals, including employees, whose voice and/or likeness is to be included in an audio or video recording.

Respondents must be informed that the interview may be recorded and their verbal or written consent obtained. If verbal consent is used, it must be recorded. If a written consent form is used for respondents, the form must be approved by the Policy Coordination Office.

This does not get into specifics about contacting the same respondent in the future and whether consent has to be re-asked.

The way this was interpreted and implemented by TMO and ACSO (at the time) was that Consent needs to be asked every time the FR re-enters the case. This was probably done on the side of caution to make sure we would not get into any legal trouble if a respondent changed their mind and somehow it was discovered they have been recorded. It also makes some sense. Who knows what environment the interview is being conducted in. Maybe the one visit the respondent was fine with recording and the next visit their kids are around and the respondent doesn't want anything recorded? I think it works that way for businesses as well. If you call for help, they indicate parts of the call may be recorded. If you call back, they say the same thing. They don't filter out that statement because the same person called 2 weeks ago.

In short, it's the right thing to do. Let the sponsor verify again they are good with being recorded.

I discussed this with Tom and John Studds and they agree with the approach implemented.

If the sponsors really want to stray from this, I think you would need to contact legal/Policy/Privacy and get them to clearly state somewhere that consent is only needed once and never again when you are recording respondents - whether 2 days, 2 weeks or 2 months later.

Question Text: * WHO USES THIS INFORMATION? WHAT GOOD IS IT?

Data from the Consumer Expenditure Survey are used in a number of different ways by a variety of users. An important use of the survey by the Bureau of Labor Statistics is for the periodic revisions of the Consumer Price Index (CPI). Survey results are used to select new market basket of goods and services for the CPI, to determine the relative importance of CPI components and to derive new cost weights for the market basket. Government and private agencies use the data to study the welfare of particular segments of the population. Economic policymakers use the data to study the impact of policy changes in the welfare of different socioeconomic groups. Researchers use the data in a variety of studies, including those that focus on the spending behavior of different family types and historical spending trends.

Question Text: * HOW IS THE DATA COLLECTED?
 HOW MANY TIMES WILL I BE INTERVIEWED?

Data collection is carried out by the Bureau of the Census. In the Interview Survey, each consumer unit is interviewed every 3 months over 4 calendar quarters. In the initial interview, information is collected on demographic and family characteristics. Expenditure information is then collected over four quarterly interviews using uniform questionnaires. In the fourth interview, a supplement is used to account for changes in assets and liabilities.

Question Text: ? [F1]

We normally send a letter in advance to sample households informing them about the survey, and communicating the Privacy Act and other information, but the current social distancing guidelines may have prohibited us from doing so. Therefore, we've provided the letter online at www.bls.gov/respondents/cex.

Would you like me to email this link to you for your reference?

- ◆ If the respondent says "Yes" ask for (or verify) email address, and send link via OWA
- Proceed with interview. (Current Email address: ^EMAILADDR_fill)
- ◆ If the respondent says "No" or "What does the letter say?" - Press F1 and read verbatim Help text.
