

PRIVACY THRESHOLD ANALYSIS (PTA)

This form serves as the official determination by the DHS Privacy Office to identify the privacy compliance requirements for all Departmental uses of personally identifiable information (PII).

A Privacy Threshold Analysis (PTA) serves as the document used to identify information technology (IT) systems, information collections/forms, technologies, rulemakings, programs, information sharing arrangements, or pilot projects that involve PII and other activities that otherwise impact the privacy of individuals as determined by the Chief Privacy Officer, pursuant to Section 222 of the Homeland Security Act, and to assess whether there is a need for additional Privacy Compliance Documentation. A PTA includes a general description of the IT system, information collection, form, technology, rulemaking, program, pilot project, information sharing arrangement, or other Department activity and describes what PII is collected (and from whom) and how that information is used and managed.

Please complete the attached Privacy Threshold Analysis and submit it to your component Privacy Office. After review by your component Privacy Officer the PTA is sent to the Department's Senior Director for Privacy Compliance for action. If you do not have a component Privacy Office, please send the PTA to the DHS Privacy Office:

Senior Director, Privacy Compliance
The Privacy Office
U.S. Department of Homeland Security
Washington, DC 20528
Tel: 202-343-1717

Upon receipt from your component Privacy Office, the DHS Privacy Office will review this form and assess whether any privacy compliance documentation is required. If compliance documentation is required – such as Privacy Impact Assessment (PIA), System of Records Notice (SORN), Privacy Act Statement, or Computer Matching Agreement (CMA) – the DHS Privacy Office or component Privacy Office will send you a copy of the relevant compliance template to complete and return.

SPECIFIC IC/Forms PTA QUESTIONS

1. Purpose of the Information Collection or Form

- a. Describe the purpose of the information collection or form. Please provide a general description of the project and its purpose, including how it supports the DHS mission, in a way a non-technical person could understand (you may use information from the Supporting Statement).
If this is an updated PTA, please specifically describe what changes or upgrades are triggering the update to this PTA.

USCIS is submitting this PTA to document the creation of a new form titled Form I-131F, Application for Parole in Place for Certain Noncitizen Spouses and Stepchildren of U.S. Citizens. The form is currently in the process of being reviewed and approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The Form I-131F, Application for Unity and Stability of Families Parole, will be used by noncitizens who are present in the United States without admission or parole to request a temporary period of parole in place under INA section 212(d)(5)(A) under the new Process to Promote the Unity and Stability of Families.

DHS, in its discretion, may grant parole on a case-by-case basis for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit to any noncitizen who is an applicant for admission. This authority extends to noncitizens present in the United States who have not been lawfully admitted, a practice known as “parole in place.” If USCIS approves the Form I-131F filed for a noncitizen seeking parole in place, the noncitizen will receive a Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, which is evidence of their parole. NOTE: Form I-94 does not authorize entry into the United States after departure. Individuals granted parole under this process who depart the United States without first obtaining an Advance Parole Document may be unable to return and/or barred from eligibility for future immigration benefits, including adjustment of status to that of lawful permanent resident (Green Card).

USCIS is in the process of creating and implementing a parole in place (PIP) process for certain noncitizen spouses and stepchildren of U.S. citizens who are present in the United States without admission or parole. Under this process, noncitizens who are married to U.S. citizens, who have not been inspected and admitted or paroled, who have been continuously physically present in the United States for at least ten years as of June 17, 2024, and who meet certain other requirements, may be considered for parole in place on a case-by-case basis for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit. The process for this particularized population to apply and be considered for parole in place on a case-by-case basis will achieve the significant public benefit of promoting the unity and stability of American families, increasing the economic prosperity of American communities, strengthening diplomatic relationships with partner countries in the region, reducing strain on limited U.S. government resources, and furthering national security and public safety objectives. Certain noncitizen children of a U.S. citizen may also request parole in place under this process, provided that they are physically present in the United States without admission or parole as of June 17, 2024 and meet the Immigration and Nationality Act's definition and requirements of a stepchild of a U.S. citizen.

A separate Form I-131F must be filed for each noncitizen seeking parole in place under the Unity and Stability of Families parole process. Upon receipt of a properly filed parole in place request, USCIS will determine on a case-by-case basis whether a grant of parole is warranted based on a significant public benefit or urgent humanitarian reasons and whether the applicant merits a favorable exercise of discretion. All requests will take into consideration the potential requestor's previous immigration history, criminal history, the results of background checks and national security and public safety vetting, and any other relevant information available to or requested by USCIS.

If paroled, these noncitizens will generally be able to apply for lawful permanent residence without having to leave the United States and be processed by a U.S. consulate overseas. DHS estimates that 500,000 noncitizen spouses of U.S. citizens could be eligible to access this process; on average, these noncitizens have resided in the United States for 23 years. Approximately 50,000 noncitizen children of these spouses are estimated to be eligible to seek parole under this process.

A noncitizen may request parole in place under this process if they:

- (1) Are present in the United States without admission or parole;
- (2) Have been continuously physically present in the United States:
 - (a) Since at least June 17, 2014, if seeking parole in place as the spouse of a U.S. citizen OR
 - (b) As of June 17, 2024, if seeking parole in place as the stepchild of a U.S. citizen;

(3) Have:

(a) A legally valid marriage to a U.S. citizen on or before June 17, 2024, if seeking parole in place as the spouse of a U.S. citizen OR

(b) A parent who had a legally valid marriage to a U.S. citizen on or before June 17, 2024, and before the stepchild's 18th birthday, if seeking parole in place as the stepchild of a U.S. citizen;

(4) Do not have any disqualifying criminal history; and

(5) Do not pose a threat to national security and public safety.

Even if an individual meets the above criteria allowing them to seek a discretionary grant of parole under this process, USCIS may deny the request if it is determined that a grant of parole is not warranted in the specific individual's case.

Relevant Information Technology

Individuals must submit the Form I-131F electronically. Online filing for the Form I-131F is available via myUSCIS, a customer service tool that provides an online public-facing portal for USCIS customers to access information related to their applications, petitions, and service requests. Individuals may use their myUSCIS online account to electronically file Form I-131F once authenticated. All supporting evidence for the Form I-131F may also be submitted to in electronic form via their myUSCIS online account.

After an applicant properly submits Form I-131F with the correct fee and signature, information from the form is ingested into the USCIS Electronic Information System (USCIS ELIS) system, an internal case management system used by USCIS officers to review and adjudicate cases. USCIS ELIS will receive the electronic filing directly from myUSCIS after ingestion. The Form I-131F and any supporting evidence are then routed to an officer for adjudication. The officer updates USCIS ELIS with an adjudicative decision, and a notice of that decision (a request for evidence, notice of intent to deny, approval, or denial) is issued to the applicant.

DHS Privacy Office Comments: Please describe rationale for privacy compliance determination above.
USCIS submitted this new PTA to document the creation of a new form titled Form I-131F, Application for Parole in Place for Certain Noncitizen Spouses and Stepchildren of U.S. Citizens. The form is currently in the process of being reviewed and approved by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB). The Form I-131F, Application for Unity and Stability of Families Parole, will be used by noncitizens who are present in the United States without admission or parole to request a temporary period of parole in place under INA section 212(d)(5)(A) under the new Process to Promote the Unity and Stability of Families.
DHS, in its discretion, may grant parole on a case-by-case basis for urgent humanitarian reasons or significant public benefit to any noncitizen who is an applicant for admission. This authority extends to noncitizens present in the United States who have not been lawfully admitted, a practice known as “parole in place.” If USCIS approves the Form I-131F filed for a noncitizen seeking parole in place, the noncitizen will receive a Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record, which is evidence of their parole. NOTE: Form I-94 does not authorize entry into the United States after departure. Individuals granted parole under this process who depart the United States without first obtaining an Advance Parole Document may be unable to return and/or barred from eligibility for future immigration benefits, including adjustment of status to that of lawful permanent resident (Green Card).
DHS PRIV agrees that this is a privacy-sensitive form because it collects PII and SPII from members of the public. PRIV recommends coverage under DHS/USCIS/PIA-056 USCIS Electronic Immigration System (USCIS ELIS), which covers adjudicative actions pertaining to the Form I-131F; and DHS/USCIS/PIA-071 myUSCIS Account Experience, which covers the electronic submission of forms to USCIS, including Form I-131F.

SORN coverage is required because data is being retrieved by a unique identifier. SORN coverage is provided under DHS/USCIS/ICE/CBP-001 Alien File, Index, and National File Tracking System of Records, which covers the physical and electronic immigration files, including A-Files and Receipt Files; DHS/USCIS-007 Benefits Information System, which covers the collection, use and storage of data elements USCIS collects about benefit requestors, beneficiaries, legal representatives, interpreters, and preparers to process the Form I-131F; and DHS/USCIS-018 Immigration Biometric and Background Check, which covers the background checks that are performed in association with ELIS.
