SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title of Collection: Consumer Response Government and Congressional Portal Boarding Forms.
OMB Control Number: 3170–0057.

Type of Review: Revision of a currently approved collection.

Affected Public: State, local, and Tribal governments; Federal Government.

Estimated Number of Respondents: 60.

Estimated Total Annual Burden Hours: 14.

Abstract: Section 1013(b)(3)(A) of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd-Frank Act or Act) requires the CFPB to “facilitate the centralized collection of, monitoring of, and response to consumer complaints regarding consumer financial products or services.”<sup>1</sup> The Act also requires the CFPB to “share consumer complaint information with prudential regulators, the Federal Trade Commission, other Federal agencies, and State agencies.”<sup>2</sup> To facilitate the collection of complaints, the CFPB accepts consumer complaints submitted by Members of Congress on behalf of their constituents with the consumer’s express written authorization for the release of their personal information. In furtherance of its statutory mandates related to consumer complaints, the CFPB uses Government and Congressional Portal Boarding Forms (i.e., Boarding Forms) to register users for access to secure, web-based portals. The CFPB has developed separate portals for congressional users and other government users as part of its secure web portal offerings (the “Government Portal” and the “Congressional Portal,” respectively).<sup>3</sup>

Through the Government Portal, government users can view consumer complaint information in a user-friendly format that allows easy review of complaints currently active in the CFPB process, complaints referred to a prudential Federal regulator, and other closed/archived complaints.

Through the Congressional Portal, Members of Congress and authorized congressional office staff can view data associated with consumer complaints they submit on behalf of their constituents with the consumer’s express written authorization for the release of their personal information. The Congressional Portal only displays information about complaints submitted by the individual congressional office.

<sup>3</sup> In addition to the boarding forms for congressional and government users, CFPB utilizes a separate OMB-approved form to board companies onto their own distinct portal to access complaints submitted against them, through OMB Control Number 3170–0054 (Consumer Complaint Intake System Company Portal Boarding Form Information Collection System).

Changes in this revision reflect the requirements outlined in 12 CFR 1070.43(b)(2) that requires a citation to the agency's legal authority to review, possess, and examine consumer complaints. Therefore, new language and fields have been added to the form.

Request for Comments: The CFPB published a 60-day Federal Register notice on March 27, 2024 (89 FR 21244) under Docket Number: CFPB–2024–0014. #### SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION:

Title; Associated Form; and OMB Number: Wearables for Readiness Indicators; OMB Control Number 0701–WFR1.

Needs and Uses: The Wearables for Readiness Indicators research study aims to determine whether the biobehavioral signals from commercial off-the-shelf wearable devices such as Apple Watches, Garmin watches, and Oura rings can reliably predict periods of risk for musculoskeletal injuries or mental health disorders. The data collection activity asks volunteers to upload retrospective commercial wearable data from their personally-procured commercial wearable devices to an online data collection site and to provide the dates, diagnoses, and prescribed medications from all medical encounters during the time for which their wearables data is available. The intent is to find biobehavioral signals that precede medical conditions such as mental health disorders and musculoskeletal injuries. The data collection website will also query for other factors that may not be present in a medical record but may influence the interpretation of wearables' biobehavioral signals. Therefore, subjects will answer questions about their mood, occupational exposures, lifestyle risk factors and changes, and psychosocial stressors. They will also answer questions about medical conditions they may have experienced but self-managed or for which they otherwise did not seek medical attention.

The targeted population is focused on military members within 1 year of their approved military separation date or veterans who are within 1 year of their separation date. This population was selected because they may be less reluctant to share their medical information because they no longer have a fear of fitness for duty repercussions while still being representatively healthy and “fit for duty,” with limited health morbidities and polypharmacy issues as a group of veterans who are more distal from their dates of separation or compared to the general public who might have medical conditions that would be disqualifying from service.

Affected Public: Individuals or households.

Annual Burden Hours: 900.

Number of Respondents: 600.

Responses per Respondent: 1.

Annual Responses: 600.

Average Burden per Response: 90 minutes.

Frequency: Once.

Study volunteers who meet inclusion criteria for the research will upload the data file for the previous 12 months from their personal wearable device and enter their medical appointment dates and diagnoses for the same time period as their wearables data (e.g., the previous 12 months). They will also answer the questions about lifestyle, risk, and mood to help clarify factors that might affect the biobehavioral signals received from the personal wearable device. This data will be entered once, and when completed, no further participation or contact with the researchers will occur, unless initiated
