This comes to notify you that 14 days into this 30-day review announced in the Federal Register of 9/19/24, the 2 new forms and several supplemental materials still do not appear to be available by following the steps from the Federal Register through to the OMB Reginfo.gov site.

The public comment period should be extended. It appears that any member of the public who wishes to review and submit comments will not have the 30 days to which they are entitled.

It appears that, while the Federal Register announcement was on 9/19, OMB did not post the forms officially until 9/30. Even so, I still cannot find that link or the needed materials by following the weblink provided in the Federal Register.

Therefore, I request 3 things: The 2 forms and supplemental materials be provided as links in the Federal Register; the notice of an extension be posted in the Federal Register; and the 30-day comment period be re-set to start only when the subject materials are verified as available on the page of the Federal Register that announces the new comment period.

Thank you!
