The screenshot shows the 'My Appointment' page on the USCIS website. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the USCIS logo and links for 'My Account', 'Resources', and 'Sign Out'. The main content area is titled 'My Appointment' and includes a language selection dropdown set to 'English'. Below this, there is a section for 'Have An Appointment Already?' with a 'View your appointment' button. The 'Scheduling An Appointment' section is divided into 'Inside the United States' and 'Outside the United States'. Under 'Inside the United States', there are links for 'Request An Appointment' and 'Request an Appointment'. Under 'Outside the United States', there is a 'Select a Country' dropdown. The 'Asylum Seekers And NACARA Applicants' section provides information on scheduling appointments and a 'Schedule asylum appointment' button. A grid of six images with text overlays offers quick actions: 'I want to ask a general question', 'I need an application form', 'I want to file an application in person', 'I am a permanent resident and I have not received my Green Card', 'I want to sign into my USCIS online account or create a new account', and 'I want to check my case status'. At the bottom, there are expandable sections for 'Additional information about your appointment', 'DHS Privacy Notice', 'USCIS Accessibility Statement', and 'Paperwork Reduction Act', followed by a 'DHS Warning' section.

ADIT Stamp

An Alien Documentation Identification and Telecommunication (ADIT) stamp (also known as an I-551 stamp) may be issued to Lawful Permanent Residents (LPRs) as evidence of their lawful permanent resident status in limited circumstances. An ADIT stamp is placed in the individual's unexpired passport or, if the individual's passport is expired or unavailable, on Form I-94, Arrival/Departure Record. Applicants who do not possess a valid passport must bring two passport-style photos to their appointment to create a Form I-94.

Note: If you were issued an extension notice after filing, and you are in possession of your expired Permanent Resident Card (PRC), please show these two documents as your valid proof of status upon request. If you are not in possession of your expired Permanent Resident Card, your extension notice is no longer valid, please make an appointment to obtain proof of status.

[Emergency Advance Parole Expanded]

Emergency Advance Parole

Field offices sometimes receive emergency requests for issuance of an advance parole document. Whether or not to grant a request for emergency advance parole document depends on if the travel need is considered emergent.

“Emergent” means “arising unexpectedly,” while “emergency” means “calling for prompt action.” If you are experiencing an extremely urgent situation, you may request an emergency advance parole appointment at your local field office. You should bring the following items to your appointment:

- A completed and signed Form I-131, Application for Travel Document; [link goes to <https://www.uscis.gov/i-131>]
- Valid Passport;
- The correct I-131 filing fee;
- Evidence to support the emergency request (e.g., death certificate, medical documentation); and
- Two passport-style photos.

to <https://www.uscis.gov/greencard/greencardprocesses/traveldocuments/emergencytravel>]

Note: Asylum applicants, asylees (individuals who have been granted asylum), refugees, and lawful permanent residents who obtained such status based on their asylum or refugee status are also subject to special rules regarding traveling outside the United States. Additional information regarding traveling outside the United States as well as the consequences that could result if an asylum applicant, an asylee, a refugee, or a lawful permanent resident who obtained such status based on his or her asylum or refugee status returns to his or her country of claimed persecution may be found in the Fact Sheet entitled Traveling Outside the United States as an Asylum Applicant, an Asylee, or a Lawful Permanent Resident Who Obtained Such Status Based on Asylum Status. [link goes to https://www.uscis.gov/sites/default/files/document/news/Asylee_travel_information.pdf]

Note: Asylees (individuals who have been granted asylum) and lawful permanent residents who obtained such status based on their asylum status may travel abroad with the prior approval of the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). Such prior approval comes in the form of a refugee travel document. A refugee travel document is valid for one year and is issued to an asylee to allow his or her return to the United States after temporary travel abroad. Like advance parole, a refugee travel document does not guarantee admission into the United States. Rather, the asylee must still undergo inspection by an immigration inspector from the U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) who will determine whether the asylee should be readmitted to the United States with the refugee travel document.

Immigration Judge Grant

When an applicant is granted lawful permanent residence or asylum by an Immigration Judge (IJ) during immigration court proceedings or by the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA), USCIS is responsible for producing the applicant’s Permanent Resident Card (PRC) or providing proof of status. Typically, the applicant is required to go into the local field office to initiate card production or obtain evidence of status. Please ensure you are in possession of your copy of the Final Order and bring your photo identification and valid passport to your appointment.

- IJ Asylum grant applicants should also bring two passport-style photos to the appointment.
- IJ LPR grant applicants who do not possess a valid passport need to bring two passport-style photos to the appointment. If USCIS determines that an applicant does not have valid fingerprints on file, USCIS may schedule the applicant for an Application Support Center appointment to produce the I-551 LPR Card.
