SSA uses a modified benefit formula to compute Social Security benefits for individuals entitled to both a pension or annuity based on employment after 1956 not covered by Social Security and a Social Security retirement or disability insurance benefit. Under the Windfall Elimination Provision, if you work for an employer who doesn't withhold Social Security taxes from your salary, such as certain government agencies or an employer in another country, any retirement or disability pension you get from that non-covered work can reduce your Social Security benefits. This provision can affect you when you earn a retirement or disability pension from an employer who didn't withhold Social Security taxes and you qualify for Social Security retirement or disability benefits from covered work in other jobs for which you did pay taxes. SSA won't reduce your Social Security benefit by more than half of your non-covered pension.
