

Instructions for Schedule C (Form 1116)

(Rev. December 2022)

Foreign Tax Redeterminations

Section references are to the Internal Revenue Code unless otherwise noted.

Future Developments

For the latest information about developments related to Schedule C (Form 1116) and its instructions, such as legislation enacted after they were published, go to IRS.gov/Form1116.

What's New

Schedule C has been revised. Part I, column 13, now requests "Reference ID Number for Contested Tax, if applicable" to reflect Regulations section 1.905-1(d)(4) and new Form 7204, Consent To Extend the Time To Assess Tax Related to Contested Foreign Income Taxes—Provisional Foreign Tax Credit Agreement.

We added new Part V, Annual Reporting for Contested Taxes, to be used by taxpayers beginning with the 2023 tax year to comply with the annual notice requirement described in Regulations section 1.905-1(d)(4)(iv). For each tax year following the year in which a provisional foreign tax credit election is made on Form 7204, up to and including the tax year in which the contest is resolved, the taxpayer must provide the information requested in Part V.

General Instructions

Purpose of Schedule

Schedule C (Form 1116) is used to identify foreign tax redeterminations that occur in the current tax year in each separate category, the years to which they relate, and other information that satisfies your obligation to notify the IRS of foreign tax redeterminations that occurred in the current year that relate to prior years.

Use Part I to report foreign income tax redeterminations that resulted in an increase in the amount of foreign income taxes accrued and paid by the taxpayer.

Note. If you claim credit for foreign income taxes on the cash basis method of accounting (you checked the box for "Paid" on Form 1116, Part II), and you pay additional foreign income taxes that relate to a prior tax year, that isn't a foreign tax redetermination. You don't report those additional foreign income taxes paid in Part I of Schedule C. You report those as foreign income taxes paid on Form 1116, Part II, filed for the tax year in which you paid the additional foreign income taxes.

Use Part II to report foreign tax redeterminations that resulted in a decrease in the amount of foreign income taxes paid or accrued by the taxpayer.

Use Part III to report foreign tax redeterminations that resulted in a change in the amount of foreign income taxes paid or accrued in any relation back year.

Use Part IV to report foreign tax redeterminations that resulted in a change in the U.S. tax liability for any relation back year or other affected tax year(s) (for example, by reason of a change in allowable foreign tax credit carryovers).

Use Part V, beginning with the 2023 tax year, to satisfy the annual reporting requirement under Regulations section 1.905-1(d)(4)(iv) for contested foreign income taxes for which the taxpayer claimed a provisional foreign tax credit.

Who Must File

Any taxpayer that has a foreign tax redetermination under section 905(c) must complete this schedule and attach it to the U.S. income tax return for the tax year in which the foreign tax redetermination occurs. This schedule must be filed irrespective of whether the foreign tax redetermination changed your U.S. tax liability.

Note. If your U.S. tax liability for any year changes by reason of the foreign tax redetermination, you must file an amended return for the tax year with respect to which the U.S. tax liability is adjusted, in addition to filing Schedule C for the year in which the foreign tax redetermination occurs. See Foreign Tax Redeterminations in the Instructions for Form 1116 for additional information regarding foreign tax redeterminations that result in a change in U.S. tax liability and the related reporting requirements.

If a foreign tax redetermination doesn't change the amount of U.S. tax due for any tax year, you don't need to file an amended return. You satisfy your reporting requirements under Regulations section 1.905-4(b)(1)(v) with respect to the foreign tax redetermination by filing a Schedule C with the return for the tax year in which the foreign tax redetermination occurs.

Definitions

Foreign tax redetermination. A foreign tax redetermination means a change in the liability for foreign income taxes including if:

- Accrued foreign income taxes when paid or later adjusted differ from the amounts claimed as credits (including corrections to accrued amounts to reflect final foreign income tax liability and additional payments of tax that accrue after the close of the tax year to which the tax relates);
- Accrued foreign income taxes aren't paid within 24 months after the close of the tax year to which they relate; or

- Any foreign income tax paid is fully or partially refunded.

Relation back year. Relation back year means the U.S. tax year in which the foreign income taxes being redetermined were originally taken into account.

Example. In U.S. tax year 1, you took into account $2 million of Country X foreign income taxes accrued with respect to the foreign tax year that ended within U.S. tax year 1. In year 3, Country X assessed an additional $1 million of foreign income taxes with respect to the foreign tax year that ended within U.S. tax year 1. The relation back year is U.S. tax year 1.

Affected tax year. Affected tax year means any tax year for which the U.S. tax liability is changed as a result of a foreign tax redetermination. This includes tax years in which the U.S. tax liability is changed as a result of a change in a carryover of a tax attribute, such as a foreign tax credit carryover or a net operating loss carryover, from a relation back year.

Functional currency. Functional currency means the dollar, or in the case of a qualified business unit (QBU), the currency of the economic environment in which a significant part of such unit's activities are conducted and which is used by such unit in keeping its books and records. See section 985(b).

Reference ID number for contested tax. See the Instructions for Form 7204 for the definition of and requirements for the reference ID number for contested foreign income tax.

Specific Instructions

Important: All information reported on Schedule C must be in English. All amounts must be stated in U.S. dollars, unless otherwise specified on the schedule.

If there are more than three payor entities for a relation back year, attach a statement that lists all information requested on Schedule C for those payor entities following the format of Schedule C. If there are more than 2 relation back years (Parts I, II, III, or IV), there are other affected years in addition to the relation back years (Part IV), or more than 5 relation back years (Part V), attach a statement that lists all information requested on Schedule C for those years following the format of Schedule C.

Checkboxes at top of page 1. Use a separate Schedule C for each applicable category of income and check the corresponding box. Check only one box for each completed Schedule C.

See Categories of Income in the Instructions for Form 1116 for additional information regarding separate categories. For country codes on lines (h) and (i), see IRS.gov/CountryCodes for the code to use.

Parts I, II, III, and IV, column 1. In this column, enter the ending date of the relation back year or affected year (Part IV).

Parts I and II, columns 2a and 2b. In columns 2a and 2b, enter the name and the employer identification number (EIN) or reference ID of the payor. If you paid the tax directly, enter your name. If the tax was paid by a pass-through entity, such as a partnership, in which you have an ownership interest, enter the information for that entity.

For additional information on EINs and reference IDs, see Reference ID numbers in the Instructions for Form 1118.

Parts I and II, column 3. Enter the code for the country or U.S. possession to which tax is paid using the country codes provided at IRS.gov/CountryCodes.

Parts I and II, column 6. Enter the payor's income subject to tax in the foreign jurisdiction, as reported on the foreign tax return.

Parts I and II, column 9. Enter the exchange rate originally used to convert the local currency (in which the redetermined foreign tax was paid) to U.S. dollars.

Parts I and II, column 11. Enter the U.S. dollar amount of foreign income tax of each payor that was reported by the taxpayer on its original or amended return (not taking into account the foreign tax redetermination).

Part I

Columns 4 and 5. Enter the date(s) the additional foreign income taxes were paid and the ending date of the foreign tax year to which such taxes relate.

Column 7. Enter the amounts of additional foreign income tax accrued in the local currency in which the tax is payable.

Column 8. Enter the amounts of the additional foreign income tax denominated in the functional currency of the payor that accrued the additional foreign income tax.

Column 13. Enter the reference ID number for the contested foreign income tax, if applicable, using the reference ID number reported on Form 7204 filed with respect to the contested foreign income tax.

Part II

Columns 4 and 5. Enter the date(s) the foreign income taxes were refunded or deemed refunded and the ending date of the foreign tax year to which such taxes relate. If the foreign income taxes are deemed refunded by reason of the section 905(c)(2) two-year rule described in the Note in the instructions for column 13, enter in column 4 the date that is 24 months after the close of the tax year to which the foreign income taxes relate.

Column 7. Enter the amount of the foreign income tax refunded or deemed refunded in the local currency in which the foreign income tax is payable.

Column 8. Enter the amount refunded or deemed refunded denominated in the functional currency of the payor that paid or accrued the refunded amount.

Column 13. Check the box if the foreign tax redetermination is a result of the application of the section 905(c)(2) two-year rule.

Note. Under section 905(c)(2), if accrued foreign income taxes aren't paid on or before the date that is 24 months after the close of the tax year to which they relate (two-year rule), there is a resulting foreign tax redetermination that is accounted for as if the unpaid portion of the foreign income taxes were refunded on that date. Credit may be claimed for those taxes if and when they are ultimately paid. Foreign income taxes that first accrue after the date 24 months after the close of the tax year to which the taxes relate may not be claimed as a credit until paid.

Part III

Columns 2 and 3. Enter the redetermined foreign income taxes paid or accrued and the foreign income taxes paid or accrued per your original or previously amended return.

Columns 4 and 5. Enter the total amount of foreign tax credit claimed in the separate category on your original or previously amended return and the total amount of foreign tax credit claimed after the foreign tax redetermination.

Part IV

Columns 2 through 4. Enter the total redetermined U.S. tax liability, the total U.S. tax liability reported on your original or previously amended return, and the difference (subtracting column 3 from column 2) for each affected tax year.

Part V

Don't complete Part V for the 2022 tax year. Beginning with the 2023 tax year, taxpayers will enter the information requested on Schedule C, Part V, using the instructions provided next.

Column 1. For taxpayers that claim credits on the accrual basis, enter the relation back year. For taxpayers that claim credits on the cash basis, enter the year in which the contested foreign income tax was remitted to the foreign country. The tax year entered on column 1 should correspond with the tax year entered on line 1 on Form 7204 that was filed in order to claim a provisional credit for the contested foreign income tax.

Column 2. Enter the name of the payor. If you paid the tax directly, enter your name. If the tax was paid by a pass-through entity, such as a partnership, in which you have an ownership interest, enter the name of that entity.

Column 3. Enter the reference ID number for the contested foreign income tax that was used on Form 7204.

Columns 4 and 5. Enter the code of the country or U.S. possession to which the tax was paid using the country codes provided at IRS.gov/CountryCode and the amount of contested foreign income tax that was provisionally claimed as credit.

Columns 6 and 7. Check the box in column 6 if the contest is still ongoing and check the box in column 7 if the contest was resolved.

Columns 8 and 9. Enter the date the contest was resolved and the amount of foreign income tax refunded or additional foreign income tax paid, if any. Any portion of a contested foreign income tax for which a provisional credit is claimed that is subsequently refunded results in a foreign tax redetermination that must be reported on Schedule C and, if applicable, an amended return for the tax year(s) for which the U.S. tax liability changes as a result of such foreign tax redetermination.

Additional Information

For more information, see section 905(c) and Regulations sections 1.905-1, 1.905-3, 1.905-4, and 1.905-5.

Paperwork Reduction Act Notice.

We ask for the information on Schedule C to carry out the Internal Revenue laws of the United States. You're required to give us the information. We need it to ensure that you're complying with these laws and to allow us to figure and collect the right amount of tax.

You're not required to provide the information requested on a form that is subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act unless the form displays a valid OMB control number. Books or records relating to a form or its instructions must be retained as long as their contents may become material in the administration of any Internal Revenue law. Generally, tax returns and return information are confidential, as required by section 6103.

The time needed to complete and file Schedule C will vary depending on individual circumstances. The estimated burden for individual taxpayers filing this form is approved under OMB control number 1545-0074 and is included in the estimates shown in the instructions for their individual income tax return. The estimated burden for all other taxpayers who file this form is Recordkeeping, 13 min.; Learning about the law or the form, 14 min.; Preparing the form, 38 min.

If you have comments concerning the accuracy of these time estimates or suggestions for making this form simpler, we would be happy to hear from you. You can write to the IRS at the address listed in the instructions of the tax return with which this form is filed.