A visa waiver is not available to persons who are within specific categories defined by law as inadmissible to the United States (except when a waiver is obtained in advance). Complete information regarding these categories and whether any may be applicable to you can be obtained from U.S. Customs and Border Protection. Generally, they include persons:

- Afflicted with contagious diseases (e.g., tuberculosis) or who have suffered serious mental illness;
- Arrested or convicted for any offense or crime even though subject of a pardon, amnesty, or other such legal action;
- Believed to be narcotic addicts or traffickers;
- Previously removed from or unlawfully in, the United States;
- Who seek, have sought or have procured a visa, or other documentation, or entry into the United States by fraud or willful misrepresentation;
- Who have engaged in any terrorist activity or are a member of a terrorist organization;
- Who ordered, incited, assisted, or otherwise participated in the persecution of any person because of race, religion, national origin, or political opinion under the control, direct or indirect, of the Nazi Government, or of the government of any area occupied by, or allied with, the Nazi Government of Germany, or who participated in genocide in any country.

▼ Who is required to complete an I-736 form?

Citizens or nationals from one of the twelve countries participating in the Guam and Commonwealth of Northern Marianas Islands (CNMI) visa waiver program (Australia, Brunei, Hong Kong, Japan, Malaysia, Nauru, New Zealand, Papua New Guinea, South Korea, Singapore, Taiwan and the United Kingdom) who travel to Guam or CNMI are required, with a few exceptions, to present a signed paper copy of the I-736 form upon arrival. For any of the following conditions, an I-736 is not required:

1. If a traveler holds a valid visa for travel to the U.S.
2. If a traveler is a citizen of Australia, Brunei, Japan, New Zealand, South Korea, Singapore, Taiwan, or the United Kingdom and has a current ESTA enrollment.
3. If a traveler from PRC holds a valid visa for travel to the U.S. and has a valid EVUS enrollment

Citizens or nationals from the People's Republic of China (PRC) and the Russian Federation are not eligible to travel under the G-CNMI VWP. Rather, Chinese citizens and nationals are required to complete Form I-736 in order to be granted temporary admission into CNMI-only without a visa. While Russian citizens and nationals are required to complete Form I-736 in order to be granted temporary admission without a visa into Guam and CNMI.
