BEYOND BENEFITS STUDY SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION

Consent to Participate in the Beyond Benefits Study (BBS)

What is the purpose of the study?

The Social Security Administration (SSA) is conducting the Beyond Benefits Study to collect information about the service, medical and employment needs of working-age adults who currently receive disability-related payments or stopped receiving disability-related payments from SSA due to medical improvement. SSA hired Westat, a national research company, to carry out the study. The purpose of the research is to help SSA identify ways to help people who may be leaving or have left disability programs.

What are we asking of you?

You are agreeing to participate in a survey that will take 45 minutes, or less, to complete. You will tell us about your health and health history, health needs, work history, need for support, and employment goals. You may skip any question that you prefer not to answer. If you decide not to volunteer, it will not affect any decision SSA makes about your current, or future, disability benefits or payments. We will ask for your permission to send text message reminders about the study. Depending on your texting plan, you may incur a charge for these texts. If you agree, you will be able to opt-out of receiving these reminders at any time by replying “STOP” to the text or by calling the Help Desk at Westat.¹

What benefits will you get for participating?

You will not benefit directly by completing the survey. But you may help SSA improve policies and programs that help people who leave disability programs when their condition medically improves. After you complete the survey, we will mail you a $40 Visa gift card.

Persons eligible for participation in the study.

You were randomly selected to participate in the study from a list of current and former Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program beneficiaries. Everyone on the list had the same chance of being selected.

What is the study doing to minimize your risks?

There is a small risk of disclosure of your personal information. To reduce this risk, we will separate any information that identifies you from the rest of your data and store those identifiers separately. Although it is not likely, it is possible that some of the survey questions may make you feel anxious or frustrated. If this happens, you can skip the questions or stop participating. If you get upset, you may request a referral to crisis management services. It is your decision to use this referral. However, if you tell us that you are planning to hurt yourself or someone else, the study is required by the law to notify appropriate authorities.

How will we protect your privacy?

We will follow Federal law and regulations to protect your privacy. SSA and Westat will protect your personal information collected during the study. The information we collect is used for research in limited ways, consistent with applicable Federal law, regulations, and directives. For example, we use your answers to the survey questions, combined with answers to the questions from other people, to help SSA understand applicants' experiences. Your name or other identifying information will not be included in any published reports.

¹ Each text message sent by the study will also include these opt-out instructions.

Privacy Act Statement Collection and Use of Personal Information. Section 1110(a) of the Social Security Act, as amended, allows us to collect this information, which we will use to help the Social Security Administration (SSA) identify ways to help people who may be leaving or have left disability programs. Providing us this information is voluntary; not providing all or part of the information will not affect your SSA benefit. As law permits, we may use and share the information you submit, including with other Federal agencies, contractors, student volunteers, and others, as outlined in the routine uses within System of Records Notice (SORN) 60-0218, available at www.ssa.gov/privacy. The information you submit may also be used in computer matching programs to establish or verify eligibility for Federal benefit programs and to recoup debts under these programs.
