G-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Accredited Representative

Form G-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Accredited Representative is for attorneys and accredited representatives to provide information to establish their eligibility to appear for and act on behalf of an applicant, petitioner, requester, beneficiary or derivative, or respondent in immigration matters.

An attorney or accredited representative must complete and submit a new Form G-28 form for each benefit request. Form G-28 can be started along with a client's new case or it can be added to a client's already-submitted case. USCIS will only recognize a completed Form G-28 once the client has reviewed and signed the form.

Each attorney or accredited representative appearing in a case must submit their own Form G-28 and USCIS only recognizes one Form G-28 at a time.

Note: For matters before the Department of Justice, Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR), representatives must file an EOIR-27, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative Before the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) for representation before the BIA, or EOIR-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative Before the Immigration Court for representation before the Immigration Courts.

Before You Start The Form

Who should complete this form

You should only complete this form if you are an attorney or accredited representative as defined in 8 CFR 1.2 and 1292.

Law students and law graduates

If you are a law student or law graduate who is working under the direct supervision of an attorney or accredited representative, you will need to provide your name on the form.

Designated paralegal for limited interaction with USCIS for customer service purposes

USCIS will allow an attorney or accredited representative completing this form to list one designated paralegal to interact with USCIS customer service channels on the attorney or accredited representative of record's behalf for specified, limited interaction. The designated paralegal must be directly employed by the attorney's law firm or the accredited representative's recognized organization and under the direct supervision of the designating attorney or accredited representative. The attorney or accredited representative is responsible for the conduct of the designated paralegal acting on their behalf, and such conduct will be subject to the disciplinary rules and procedures at 8 CFR parts 292.3(a)(1) and 1003.102.

Only the designated paralegal may engage in the limited interaction, provided that the client consents to USCIS release of their information of any records that appear in any system of records of USCIS to the designated paralegal. If the attorney or accredited representative of record needs to change the designated paralegal who will be working with the attorney or accredited representative on the client's case, the attorney or accredited representative of record and client must complete a new Form G-28.

Limited interaction is generally defined as follows:

A designated paralegal may only interact with USCIS customer service channels on the attorney or accredited representative of record's behalf to:

- Inquire about case status;
- Inquire about documents or cards that may need to be replaced (because they were not delivered; were lost, stolen, destroyed, or mutilated; or need to be corrected);
- Request appointment accommodations;
- Schedule or reschedule appointments; and
- Request a change of address.

Note: A paralegal may not be able to interact with USCIS customer service channels on behalf of certain protected requesters, ICE and CBP do not permit anyone but an attorney or accredited representative to appear before or communicate with their component about pending requests or cases.

Nothing in this designation is to be construed as permitting a designated paralegal to engage in practice, as defined at 8 CFR 1.2, including the exercise of professional judgment to provide legal advice or legal services or represent the person, including at an in-person appointment before USCIS.

For more information, review the USCIS Policy Manual, Volume 1, General Policies and Procedures, Part D, Attorneys and Representatives.

Foreign attorneys

If you are an attorney not licensed to practice law in the United States, you should not use this form. Instead, you will need to file the Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney in Matters Outside the United States (G-281).

Other representatives

If you are seeking to appear as a reputable individual as defined in 8 CFR 292.1(a)(3), you should not use this form. Instead, you will need to seek permission from DHS to appear with your client.

After You Complete The Form

Your client adds you as their representative

After you complete Form G-28 and provide your signature, we will give you a one-time passcode to give to your individual clients. Your client will need to sign into their USCIS account (or create a new one) and enter this code to officially add you as a representative.

Note: Company clients will receive an email notification instead of a one-time passcode.

Your client reviews and sign

Once your client adds you as a representative, he or she will need to review the information provided in the G-28. If all the information is correct, your client will accept the G-28 and then provide his or her signature. If the information is incorrect, your client will decline the G-28 and we will send it back to you to make updates.

Once your client accepts the G-28, he or she will then review each benefit form submitted with the G-28. If all information is correct, your client will provide his or her signature. If any information is incorrect, your client may decline and send back the benefit form(s) for you to make any updates.

If you are adding a G-28 to your client's already-submitted case, the case status will be updated referencing the G-28.

You submit and pay for your client's online form (for new cases)

Once your client reviews and signs the online form, the status for your client's case will display, "Ready to pay and submit." You will be able to select "Pay and submit" from the Actions drop-down that takes you to a page to submit Form G-28 along with your client's online form, and pay the fee for your client's form (if there is one).

Withdrawing Form G-28

An attorney or accredited representative or the applicant, petitioner, requestor, beneficiary or derivative, or respondent may withdraw Form G-28 at any time through their USCIS online account by navigating to the associated case and selecting "Withdraw G-28" from the "Case Actions" dropdown. Form G-28 may also be withdrawn by submitting written notice of withdrawal to DHS, or by submitting a new Form G-28. The applicant, petitioner, requestor, beneficiary or derivative, or respondent will be treated as unrepresented unless a new Form G-28 is submitted.

USCIS will not accept a request for withdrawal from a law student, law graduate, or paralegal.

Form G-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Accredited Representative is for attorneys and accredited representatives to provide information to establish their eligibility to appear for and act on behalf of an applicant, petitioner, requester, beneficiary or derivative, or respondent in immigration matters.

An attorney or accredited representative must complete and submit a new Form G-28 form for each client case. Form G-28 can be started along with a client's new case or it can be added to a client's already-submitted case. USCIS will only recognize a completed Form G-28 once the client has reviewed and signed the form.

Each attorney or accredited representative appearing in a case must submit their own Form G-28 and USCIS only recognizes one Form G-28 at a time.

Note: For matters before the Department of Justice, Executive Office for Immigration Review (EOIR), representatives must file an EOIR-27, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative Before the Board of Immigration Appeals (BIA) for representation before the BIA, or EOIR-28, Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney or Representative Before the Immigration Court for representation before the Immigration Courts.

Before You Start The Form

Who should complete this form

Form G-28 is used to officially establish a relationship between you and your representative. This form should only be completed by an attorney or accredited representative (as defined in 8 CFR 1.2 and 1292) you have chosen to appear and act on your behalf in immigration matters.

Law students and law graduates

If a law student or law graduate is working under the direct supervision of an attorney or accredited representative, they will need to provide your name on the form.

Designated paralegal for limited interaction with USCIS for customer service purposes

USCIS will allow an attorney or accredited representative completing this form to list one designated paralegal to interact with USCIS customer service channels on the attorney or accredited representative of record's behalf for specified, limited interaction. The designated paralegal must be directly employed by the attorney's law firm or the accredited representative's recognized organization and under the direct supervision of the designating attorney or accredited representative. The attorney or accredited representative is responsible for the conduct of the designated paralegal acting on their behalf, and such conduct will be subject to the disciplinary rules and procedures at 8 CFR parts 292.3(a)(1) and 1003.102.

Only the designated paralegal may engage in the limited interaction, provided that the client consents to USCIS release of their information of any records that appear in any system of records of USCIS to the designated paralegal. If the attorney or accredited representative of record needs to change the designated paralegal who will be working with the attorney or accredited representative on the client's case, the attorney or accredited representative of record and client must complete a new Form G-28.

Limited interaction is generally defined as follows:

- Inquire about case status;
- Request correspondence or notices;
- Inquire about documents or cards that may need to be replaced (because they were not delivered; were lost, stolen, destroyed, or mutilated; or need to be corrected);
- Request appointment accommodations;
- Schedule or reschedule appointments; and
- Request a change of address.

Note: A paralegal may not be able to interact with USCIS customer service channels on behalf of certain protected requesters. ICE and CBP do not permit anyone but an attorney or accredited representative to appear before or communicate with their component about pending requests or cases.

Nothing in this designation is to be construed as permitting a designated paralegal to engage in practice, as defined at 8 CFR 1.2, including the exercise of professional judgment to provide legal advice or legal services or represent the person, including at an in-person appointment before USCIS.

For more information, review the USCIS Policy Manual, Volume I, General Policies and Procedures, Part D, Attorneys and Representatives.

Foreign attorneys

If your attorney is not licensed to practice law in the United States, they should not use this form. Instead, they will need to file the Notice of Entry of Appearance as Attorney in Matters Outside the United States (G-283).

Other representatives

If you are seeking to appear as a reputable individual as defined in 8 CFR 292.1(a)(3), you should not use this form. Instead, you will need to seek permission from DHS to appear with your client.

After You Complete The Form

You add your representative in your USCIS account

After your representative completes Form G-28, they will contact you and give you a one-time passcode. You will need to sign into your USCIS account (or create a new one) and enter this code to officially add your representative.

Note: Company clients will receive an email notification instead of a one-time passcode.

Your representative completes your online form (for new cases)

Once you have reviewed and signed Form G-28, a link will appear on your representative's account home page that takes them to the online form you want to be completed on your behalf.

If your representative is adding Form G-28 to your already-submitted case, the case's status will be updated referencing the form.

You review the information in your online form

Once your representative is done filling out your online form, we will send it to you for your review.

If all the information is correct, you should accept the form and then provide your signature. If the information is incorrect, you should decline the form and we will send it back to your representative to make updates.

Your representative submits and pays for your online form (for new cases)

Once you review and sign your form, your representative will submit Form G-28 along with your form, and pay the fee for your form (if there is one).

Withdrawing a Form G-28

An attorney or accredited representative or the applicant, petitioner, requester, beneficiary or derivative, or respondent may withdraw Form G-28 at any time through their USCIS online account by navigating to the associated case and selecting "Withdraw G-28" from the "Case Actions" dropdown. Form G-28 may also be withdrawn by submitting written notice of withdrawal to DHS, or by submitting a new Form G-28. The applicant, petitioner, requester, beneficiary or derivative, or respondent will be treated as unrepresented unless a new Form G-28 is submitted.

USCIS will not accept a request for withdrawal from a law student, law graduate, or paralegal.
