SUBJECT: WELCOME TO THE EIA-877 WINTER COLLECTION SEASON

REFERENCE: OMB NO. 1905-0174 (EXPIRATION DATE: 02/28/2025)

Dear State Energy Office:

Welcome to the U.S. Energy Information Administration (EIA), the statistical and analytical agency within the U.S. Department of Energy. Your state has been selected by the EIA to respond to the EIA-877, Winter Heating Fuel Telephone Survey. EIA-877 is used to collect data on State-level stocks and residential prices of No. 2 heating oil and propane during the heating season and to report to the Congress and others when requested.

The 2024-2025 SHOPP Winter Season will begin on Monday, October 7, 2024. Data collection will continue each Monday on a weekly basis through Monday, March 31, 2025. EIA requests that you collect the residential market price (credit/keep-full prices being preferred) for No. 2 heating oil and/or propane and that all prices exclude taxes. Prices should not include discounts for cash payments or for payments made within a short period of time. However, if a company deals exclusively in cash, then this price should be collected and noted in the Internet Data Collection System (IDC).

For the 2024-2025 survey season, data should be submitted to EIA as soon as they are available, but no later than noon (ET) on Tuesday of each week. All published aggregated data (averages across all responding companies) will appear on EIA's website in the Heating Oil and Propane Update.

All states participating in SHOPP are required to use the EIA-877 Winter Fuels Survey IDC. The instructions for the IDC are available once you have logged onto the server. There is a link from the "Instructions & Help" section to a printable version. Please verify that you can login to the IDC before the start of the season. To request IDC access, please email eia4usa@eia.gov.

Response to the survey is mandatory under the Federal Energy Administration Act of 1974 (Public Law 93-275). Unless otherwise noted, EIA has sent a letter to all companies in your sample notifying them of their participation in the survey. The information provided on Form EIA-877 will be used for statistical purposes only and is confidential by law. In accordance with the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act of 2018 and other applicable Federal laws, responses will not be disclosed in identifiable form without the respondent's consent. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, Federal information systems are protected from malicious activities through cybersecurity screening of transmitted data. Every EIA employee, as well as every agent, is subject to a jail term, a fine, or both if he or she makes public ANY identifiable information reported to EIA or State Energy Office for the EIA-877 survey.

EIA remains committed to SHOPP and we appreciate your valuable efforts in making the program a success. Thank you for your continued cooperation and participation.

If you have any questions, please contact us directly at eia4usa@eia.gov or call 1-855-EIA-4USA (1-855-342-4872) Monday through Friday, 8:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m. ET.

Dear EIA-877 Respondent:

Welcome to the U.S. Energy Information Administration (EIA), the statistical and analytical agency within the U.S. Department of Energy. Your company has been selected by the EIA to respond to the Winter Heating Fuel Telephone Survey (EIA-877). The data are used to monitor the prices of propane and No. 2 heating oil during the heating season, and to report to the Congress and others when requested. These data are collected pursuant to the Federal Energy Administration (FEA) Act of 1974, Public Law 93-275, and response to this survey is mandatory under the FEA Act. EIA estimates that the average reporting burden each week for this survey is 6 minutes.

The data collection cycle for EIA-877, 2024-2025 Winter Season will begin on Monday, October 7, 2024 -Monday, March 31, 2025. An EIA or state energy office representative will call you for your residential propane or No. 2 heating oil price on Monday (Tuesday if Monday is a holiday).

Heating Fuel Prices (Weekly)

Please report the residential retail price per gallon (excluding all taxes) for residential customers that is offered to the public on the reference day (credit/keep-full prices being preferred). The price should be for local residential customers with storage tanks of approximately 275 gallons.

Do not include in your reported price any discounts for cash payments, or contract prices for residential customers under supply contracts. See instructions for further guidance:

<https://www.eia.gov/survey/#eia-877>

The information you provide will be used for statistical purposes only and is confidential by law. Every EIA employee, as well as every agent, is subject to jail term, a fine, or both if he or she makes public ANY identifiable information you report to EIA.

When there is a market disruption or supply and price volatility in the heating fuel markets, the SHOPP data provides an objective measure of market conditions at the state level to facilitate communication between heating fuel marketers and the government. Aggregated data (averages across all responding companies) will be published weekly on the Heating Oil and Propane Update page and the Winter Heating Fuels page on EIA's website at <https://www.eia.gov/special/heatingfuels/>.

Dear Station Owner,

Your station has been selected for the U.S. Energy Information Administration's (EIA) mandatory weekly gasoline price survey. This important weekly survey, EIA-878, Motor Gasoline Price Survey, is used by EIA to publish average retail gasoline prices at national, regional, and select state and city levels (<https://www.eia.gov/petroleum/gasdiesel/>). The price information your station is required to provide each week is key to producing accurate price statistics that are critical to U.S. consumers, businesses, and policymakers, including Congress and state/local governments.

Every Monday morning, except Federal holidays, your station, or corporate contact, will be telephoned and asked to report your cash pump prices of regular, midgrade, and premium gasoline as of 8:00 a.m. For Federal holidays falling on a Monday, you will be called on Tuesday instead for prices as of 8:00 a.m. Monday. If you prefer to fax, call-in, or electronically send your prices to us, please call 1-877-267-2879 to make arrangements.

Response to this survey is mandatory and required pursuant to 15 U.S.C., Sections 764(b), 772(b) and 790a of the Federal Energy Administration Act of 1974. Your company's mandatory participation will continue into the future until further notification. EIA estimates that the average reporting burden for this survey is 3 minutes per response. The information you provide on Form EIA-878 will be used for statistical purposes only and is confidential by law. In accordance with the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act of 2018 and other applicable Federal laws, your responses will not be disclosed in identifiable form without your consent. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, Federal information systems are protected from malicious activities through cybersecurity screening of transmitted data. Every EIA employee, as well as every agent, is subject to a jail term, a fine, or both if he or she makes public ANY identifiable information you reported.

I appreciate your station's future participation and contribution to this important weekly price survey, and thank you in advance for providing timely, valuable, and accurate information that benefits our nation, U.S. consumers, and industry.

- EIA Calls You – Receive a call from an EIA interviewer every Monday morning
- Email – Send an email with your Station ID to eia_survey@rti.org
- Text – Send a text message with your Station ID to 919-816-2166
- Fax – Fax prices with your Station ID to 919-541-8812

Can I be removed from the survey? At this time, no you are not able to be removed from the survey once selected. The duration you are required to report depends on several factors, including changes in the industry, sample design and frequency of sample selection.

Frequently Asked Questions

EIA-878 Motor Gasoline Price Survey

Do I have to report data?

Yes. The report is mandatory. The timely submission of Form EIA-878 is required pursuant to 15 U.S.C., Sections 764(b), 772(b), and 790a of the Federal Energy Administration Act of 1974 (FEAA) (Public Law 93-275). Your company's mandatory participation every week is required until further notification by EIA. Title 18 USC 1001 makes it a criminal offense for any person knowingly and willingly to make any agency or Department of the United States any false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements as to any matter within its jurisdiction.

Failure to respond may result in a civil penalty of not more than $10,949 per day for each violation. The government may bring a civil action to prohibit reporting violations which may result in a temporary restraining order or a preliminary or permanent injunction without bond. In such civil action, the court may also issue mandatory injunctions commanding any person to comply with these reporting requirements.

Why was my outlet selected to participate in this survey?

It is very important for those companies selected to participate in the survey to ensure accuracy and reliability of the published data. A representative sample of outlets is surveyed in order to minimize public reporting burden. We need sufficient geographic coverage to produce national, regional, state and city estimates. A representative sample includes a selection of large, medium and small outlets.

The probability of selection of any particular outlet depends on the sampling method, target coefficient of variance, and allocation method. A large outlet has a higher probability of selection than a smaller one. It is important to have a representative sample of outlets by geographic area and size. Outlets are randomly selected from the sampling frame.

How long is my outlet required to report on this survey?

How long an outlet is required to report depends on several factors, including changes in the industry, sample design, and frequency of sample selection. When producing trend statistics, we aim to ensure consistency over time in the time-series data. Users of the data—policy makers, industry and financial analysts, researchers, media, and the public—also value this consistency. We cannot provide a specific end date.

Are my data confidential?

Yes. Please be assured that the price information you provide is confidential by law and will be used for statistical purposes only. Your prices will be used along with other prices to calculate select city, state, regional and national average retail prices, by grade and formulation, which will be used by the Executive Branch, Congress, and industry in monitoring gasoline markets.

EIA follows rigorous steps to safeguard your data. In accordance with the Confidential Information Protection and Statistical Efficiency Act (CIPSEA) of 2018 and other applicable Federal laws, your responses will not be disclosed in identifiable form without your consent. Per the Federal Cybersecurity Enhancement Act of 2015, Federal information systems are protected from malicious activities through cybersecurity screening of transmitted data. Every EIA employee, as well as every agent, is subject to a jail term, a fine, or both if he or she makes public ANY identifiable information you reported.
