1. Need & Method for the Information Collection.

For many years, the General Services Administration (GSA), Federal Acquisition Service (FAS), has had the capability to place orders under contracts electronically using Electronic Data Interchange (EDI), XML, json, and internally developed applications. The GSAR has prescribed in 516.506 the use of GSAR clauses 552.216-72, Placement of Orders, and 552.216-73, Ordering Information, in solicitations and contracts for contracts to provide requirements for Offerors to receive electronic orders.

To accomplish EDI, XML and json, a company enters into a Trading Partner Agreement (TPA) with FAS. The use of electronic means furthers congressional and executive branch policies that Federal agencies provide leadership in advancing environmental objectives through technology and the expanded use of electronic commerce.

2. Use of the Information.

Establishing TPAs with contractors ensures compatibility of Government and contractor equipment and that each party understands the responsibility associated with placing orders using the electronic methods.

3. Use of Information Technology.

GSA continues to improve and expand the use of information technology to the maximum extent practicable. Where both the Government and the contractor are capable of electronic interchange, these information collection requirements may be submitted electronically.

4. Non-duplication.

GSA did not identify any duplication of information being collected. GSA's review did not identify any similar data.

5. Burden on Small Business.

The collections associated with small businesses are the minimum consistent with applicable laws, executive orders, and prudent business practices. The nature of the reporting requirements precludes reducing the information collection burden for small businesses.

6. Less Frequent Collection.

Unless a contractor establishes a TPA with FAS to use the EDI procedures, it will not receive delivery orders through this manner. Otherwise, orders will be mailed to the contractor.

7. Paperwork Reduction Act Guidelines.

Not applicable, no special circumstances exist for this information collection.

8. Consultation and Public Comments.

A 60-day notice published in the Federal Register at 89 FR 76831 on September 19, 2024. No comments were received. A 30-day notice published in the Federal Register at 89 FR 92689 on November 22, 2024.

9. Gifts or Payment.

Not applicable, GSA makes no such payments or gifts to respondents under this information collection.

10. Privacy & Confidentiality.

Not applicable. GSA makes no additional assurances under this information collection beyond what is already applicable to contract information (i.e., information collected is disclosed only to the extent consistent with prudent business practices, agency regulations, and applicable statutes).

11. Sensitive Questions.

Not applicable. No sensitive questions are involved under this information collection.

12. Burden Estimate.

GSA based the estimated burden on information obtained from subject matter experts familiar with the approximate number of vendors electing to receive orders via computer-to-computer Electronic Data Interchange or other electronic means, and the range of processing times, depending on the complexity of the contract. The burden reflected is the burden of submitting the required information.

The burden addressed in this information collection requirement is the burden of submitting the required information.
