We want to learn from you!

We want to learn about your experiences and perceptions of the Robert Noyce Teacher Scholarship Program. The National Science Foundation (NSF) wants YOUR feedback to evaluate the Noyce Program and identify areas working well and growth opportunities.

The Noyce program is dedicated to training and supporting K-12 STEM teachers in high-need schools, and NSF is partnering with WhitworthKee Consulting (the WKC Evaluation Team) to examine the experiences of those connected to the Noyce program, including:

- ⊗ Noyce Scholars, Fellows, and Alumni
- ⊗ Noyce Principal Investigators
- ⊗ Noyce Program Support Staff/Coordinators
- ⊗ Potential Noyce PIs who have not yet received a grant
- ⊗ Noyce Faculty Mentors
- ⊗ Noyce K-12 School/District Leaders
- ⊗ Noyce External Evaluators

You have the opportunity to share your own experiences and perceptions of the Noyce Program!

- ✓ Your participation may include completing a questionnaire and, at some point during the Winter of '24 through the Summer of '25, the WKC Evaluation Team may contact you about participating in an interview or focus group with other people in similar Noyce roles.
- ✓ Learn more about the evaluation activities by scanning this QR code, and then you can click the Participation Interest button if you're interested in being part of the evaluation.
