

Author Full Name : Jennifer MindyaReceived Date : 01/09/2025 03:35 PMComments Received :

As someone who suffers from anklyosing spondylitis, the treatment I have endured while trying to survive this world, is horrific. The opiate laws should no longer punish physicians whom treat people. Not patients, People. Having to go to numerous pain clinics that aren't covered by insurance or only offer injections is criminal. I didn't choose this disease, and I'm so tired of being punished because of it. You judge those who need opiates or are stable on them, until YOU need them, you won't understand.