TITLE OF INFORMATION COLLECTION:

2024 Infection Prevention and Control Webinar Training Series - Post Event (Series) Feedback Form

PURPOSE:

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention's (CDC) Health Systems Strengthening Resilience & Training (HSSRT) Branch in partnership with Indian Health Service (IHS) is hosting a 5-part webinar training series on CDC guidelines for infection prevention and control to healthcare personnel. This bundle series will cover essential topics such as risk recognition and germ spread, hand hygiene, personal protective equipment (PPE), bloodborne pathogens, environmental cleaning and disinfection, and an overview of IHS Chapter 3-33 Infection Prevention and Control Policy. By the end of these training sessions, participants will be able to explain why it's important to follow the CDC guidelines for preventing the spread of infection within their healthcare facility.

Participants have the option to also complete a survey (Attachment A) documenting their training experience at the end of the series—if they attended all five sessions. Survey data will be collected using Qualtrics which is a web-based survey tool used to build and disseminate surveys. Qualtrics is an approved CDC software. The estimated burden of each survey is less than 12 minutes and is completely voluntary.

We anticipate survey results will provide keen insights into target audience demographics (e.g., professional role/setting, work location, years of experience), capacity building, practical use, and value of content. We've included placeholders where we will ask about specific learning objectives. Attachment D has a list of the possible learning objectives. Results will not be published but will inform the design, implementation, and marketing of future IHS trainings and events.
