Using one to reflect FY 2019 SNAP QC data and the potential that States may use quarterly reporting for ABAWD households in particular; however, no States currently use quarterly reporting.

Legend

The NDB-FY 22, 366B number of recerts showed a decrease in recertifications between FY19 and FY22 even though applications went up. Normally, we would expect applications and recertifications to align in whether they increase or decrease. The reason recerts decreased in particular is because of COVID-19 adjustments that allowed States to extend certification periods and therefore reduced the number of recertifications. To better estimate the number of recertifications in the future, without those adjustments in place, we updated using a ratio. Suggest using unadjusted NDB data in future iterations of this burden when available and returning this cell to blue.
This number is only used for adjusting Characteristics Report numbers to the most recent FY.

Number included for calculations and for number of household respondents. In previous iterations of this burden table, we used the total number of households in the characteristics report. However, given the lag in the characteristics report at the time of this renewal and in response to public comments, we used more recent NDB data posted publicly on the website.
In the next iteration of this burden table, this row's estimates should be combined with Row 22, "Number of households with questionable information verifications" and reestimated.
As of 3/2/2023, GAO is working on a new report on student hunger, so by the next iteration of this burden table, we expect updated estimates of both the number of students and the percentage of students working while enrolled so that we can go back to a simplier calculation like in the 2020 renewal. In the meantime, for this iteration, we applied a ratio of the number of students in 2016 to FY19 household data and used the same percentage of working students (60%) to estimate the number of student work hour verifications.

Assumed 75% of SR households submit a report because many States use 6-month cert periods for SR households. In these cases, the households does not have to submit a PR.

Note: new data source/calculation method.
The previous formula included a multiplier of 1.1. We removed this multiplier because we think using a ratio to FY18 is sufficient.
In the next iteration of this burden table, this row's estimates should be combined with Row 47, "Number of NOAAs" and reestimated.

In the next iteration of this burden table, this row's estimates should be combined with Row 51, "Number of Notice of Match Results" and reestimated.
In the next iteration of this burden table, suggest combining "Number of ABAWD Work Requirements Notice" with the line items for number of "Referral to E&T and Notice Requirements" and "Number of subject to work requirements notices" since the ETO final rule made this one consolidated work notice.
The increase in the number of referral to E&T and Notice of Requirments derives from a more accurate data source shared by the OET office. In the next iteration of this burden table, suggest combining "Number of ABAWD Work Requirements Notice" with the line items for number of "Referral to E&T and Notice Requirements" and "Number of subject to work requirements notices" since the ETO final rule made this one consolidated work notice.
In the next iteration of this burden table, suggest combining "Number of ABAWD Work Requirements Notice" with the line items for number of "Referral to E&T and Notice Requirements" and "Number of subject to work requirements notices" since the ETO final rule made this one consolidated work notice.

In the next iteration of this burden table, suggest combining "Number of ABAWD Work Requirements Notice read by households" with the line items for number of "Number of Work Requirements Notices read by households" and "number of referral to E&T notice of requirements read by households" since the ETO final rule made this one consolidated work notice.

In the next iteration of this burden table, suggest combining "Number of ABAWD Work Requirements Notice read by households" with the line items for number of "Number of Work Requirements Notices read by households" and "number of referral to E&T notice of requirements read by households" since the ETO final rule made this one consolidated work notice.
In the next iteration of this burden table, recommend applying the assumption that 80% of these notices are read by households to this notice.
In the next iteration of this burden table, recommend applying the assumption that 80% of these notices are read by households to this notice.
In the next iteration of this burden table, recommend applying the assumption that 80% of these notices are read by households to this notice. Also suggest combining "Number of ABAWD Work Requirements Notice read by households" with the line items for number of "Number of Work Requirements Notices read by households" and "number of referral to E&T notice of requirements read by households" since the ETO final rule made this one consolidated work notice.
Note: We use the three previous years of caseload data because States have to keep records for three years.

In this iteration, we are calculating using a new methodology that separates this line item from recertifications since this policy affects households during their certification period, for all reporting types. The change in methodology resulted in an increase to the burden hours for this item. We are using 10% of change reports because there are ten different items change reporters have to report, and for the purposes of these estimates, we are assuming the breakdown of those items is evenly split amongst all change reports.
