

Author Full Name : Anonymous

Received Date : 07/31/2025 12:03 PM

Comments Received :

Obtaining this data through a batch submission is essential to ensure there is a reasonable burden on transplant programs. Please consider a batch submission of data over individual patient forms. This data is valuable and can aid in program performance and process improvement initiatives, however, completing the data submission process on an individual candidate level is too high of an administrative burden on a transplant program.