Sheriffs' Advice-Seeking Survey

State sheriffs' associations and the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention are conducting a brief survey about advice-seeking among sheriffs concerning the adoption of evidence-based public health strategies to help people prior to and upon release from jail. This survey is being sent to all sheriff members in your state. We ask that only sheriffs complete the survey. We hope that you will follow the link below to answer this brief set of questions.

Rights Regarding Participation: Your input is important; however, your participation in this survey is completely voluntary. There are no penalties or consequences to you or your organization for not participating. You can choose to stop the survey at any time, or not answer a question, for whatever reason. If you stop the survey, at your request, we will destroy the survey. You may ask any questions that you have before, during, or after you complete the survey. The survey will take approximately 7 minutes.

Benefits: Your participation will not result in any direct benefit to you. Your input will help to provide a better understanding of the advice networks of sheriffs so that health improvement efforts can better be disseminated.

Risks: This survey poses no known risks to you and/or your jail. Please know that in the survey we ask you to name other sheriffs and other jails. All identifying information of sheriffs and jails will be kept strictly confidential with names of sheriffs and jails known only to the members of the study team and the participating sheriffs' associations.

Contact information: If you have any concerns about completing this survey or have any questions about the study, please contact Tessa Swigart at Tessa.Swigart@icfnnext.com.
