

Strategies To Respond to Intimate Violence Effectively (STRIVE) Project

can contact the Child Trends' Institutional Review Board (IRB) (that approved this study) by calling (855) 288-3506 or emailing irbparticipant@childtrends.org.

What is this study about?

Child Trends' research organization and Future Without Violence, a nonprofit, is voluntary and will be used to better understand the STRIVE project. The STRIVE study is funded by the Office of Family Assistance (OFA) and Public Health Service (PHS) in the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS). The study is a national evaluation of the effectiveness of the Administration for Children and Families (ACF) that ties for the first time digital data to a national agency's health and human services (HHS) and the results of this study is required to respond to support the implementation efforts of the CAYESa (confidentiality, OMB control number: 0970-0531) in Healthy Marriage and Responsible Fatherhood (HMRP) programs.
