

POLICY EVALUATION FOCUS GROUP

Part 1: Focus Group Leader Instructions and Script

General Instructions for Lead and Notetaker

To ensure effective facilitation, it's recommended to assign a lead and a note taker to each focus group session. The lead facilitator should initiate the session with a concise introduction, outline the ground rules, and communicate the expected behavioral norms. Following this, the lead facilitator should carefully review the relevant policy and/or procedure that the discussion questions are based on. It's important to allow a comfortable period of silence for attendees to contemplate their responses before speaking. In the event of prolonged silence, it is acceptable to reiterate the question or provide additional time for consideration. For virtual sessions, consider displaying the questions on a screen, and for in-person meetings, provide handouts containing the questions and the written policy and/or procedure for reference. To maintain the privacy of participants, refrain from attributing individual comments in the notes. Lastly, adherence to the exact wording of the questions is imperative.
