

Author Full Name : Kent McIntosh

Received Date : 01/12/2026 05:01 PM

Comments Received :

As the parent of a school-aged child with a disability, I urge rejection of this change. The significant disproportionality data collection process is a critically-important safeguard that keeps parents informed and actively engaged in the schooling. Decades of research show how important it is to ensure our education systems work.