

SUPPORTING STATEMENT - PART A

Militarily Critical Technical Data Agreement

0704-0207

Summary of Changes from Previously Approved Collection

- There have been no changes to the form itself, however, the response time went from 20 minutes to 1 hour due to deeper analysis of each application since the Office of Inspector General audit findings. This causes a slower response time, but better vetted vendors before certification. DLA now requires extra validation on the vendors, so the collection time is, on average, 1 hour.

1. Need for the Information Collection

Under 32 CFR 250, "Withholding of Unclassified Technical Data from Public Disclosure," authorized by 10 USC § 130, the Secretary of Defense is authorized to establish policy, prescribe procedures, and assign responsibilities for the dissemination and withholding of unclassified export-controlled militarily critical technical data in the possession of, or under the control of DOD.

32 CFR 250 outlines procedures for certifying enterprises and individuals who have a legitimate need for militarily critical technical data. Certification is accomplished using DD Form 2345. Enterprises and individuals who need access to unclassified DOD-controlled militarily critical technical data must certify on DD Form 2345 that the data will be used only in ways that will inhibit unauthorized access and maintain the protection afforded by U.S. export control laws. The Joint Certification Program (JCP) is the only DoD Agency by which U.S. and Canadian defense contractors can apply to obtain access to unclassified DoD militarily critical (export controlled) technical data with a military or space application. The JCP Office fields, validates, and certifies U.S./Canadian supplier applications using the DD Form 2345.

The primary purposes for the DD Form 2345 (Militarily Critical Technical Data Agreement) are:

- To access or share unclassified DoD export-controlled technical data to bid on a DoD solicitation or execute a DoD contract
- To attend conferences where unclassified DoD export-controlled data is discussed or shared
- To conduct scientific research and development on behalf of DoD where unclassified DoD export-controlled data is discussed or shared

The certification process validates suppliers to minimize risk and protect U.S. intellectual property from adversarial individuals and entities foreign or domestic.

Authorities for this collection:

- Sec. 1217, Pub. L. 98-94 (10 U.S.C. 140c), "Department of Defense Authorization Act, 1984"

2. Use of the Information

Companies and individuals, from the United States or Canada, may require access to unclassified Militarily Critical (unclassified export controlled) Technical Data for contractual or research purposes. To obtain this data or information, they must apply for certification with the Joint Certification Program (JCP); a bilateral program managed jointly by the United States and Canada. This application process can be completed online by registering through the web-based portal: <https://www.public.dacs.dla.mil/jcp/ext/>. After the vendor submits their application, the Joint Certification Program Office (JCPO) will validate the submission. If the provided data is acceptable, a technician will certify the application. Upon certification, a completed and signed copy of DD Form 2345 will be emailed to the Data Custodian listed in the application. The DD Form 2345 is a legal and binding agreement; therefore, any contract that violates its terms may be subject to prosecution and penalties. The DD Form 2345 is shared with Federal legal office and law enforcement agencies for evidentiary purposes and maintained for a 10-year period. The information on the DD Form 2345 is also shared with stakeholders within the DoD Supply Chain before the release of DoD militarily critical (unclassified export controlled) technical data. Failure to collect the information will adversely impact on DoD procurement programs that involve militarily critical technical data.

Companies and individuals located in the United States or Canada may require access to unclassified Militarily Critical Technical Data (unclassified export-controlled) for contractual or research purposes. To obtain this data or information, vendors must apply for certification through the Joint Certification Program (JCP), a bilateral initiative jointly managed by the United States and Canada.
