

Native Youth Community Adaptation and Leadership Congress Application Preview and Directions

Thank you for your interest in NYCALC 2020! The online application should be filled out individually by each student. From a single community teams composed of a minimum of 3 to a maximum of 5 students will be accepted so please fill out the application to the best of your ability! Below is a preview of the application questions. The application, once opened, cannot be revisited to edit or complete at a later date. WE STRONGLY ENCOURAGE TO REVIEW AND WRITE YOUR ANSWERS PRIOR TO OPENING THE APPLICATION. YOU CAN COPY AND PASTE YOUR PRE-WRITTEN ANSWERS INTO THE APP.

The application is divided into four sections.

- The first section is called Student Information. This is your basic personal information (Name, Nickname, Birthday, Community/Tribal Affiliation, Address, Phone, Mentor Name, School Name and Address, Grade, Email).

Native Youth Community Adaptation and Leadership Congress Application Directions and Question Preview 2020

- Part One is a short answer portion to the following questions. These questions are designed to gain insight into how involved you are in your community and school life.
 - Directions: Please fill out this short answer section as completely as possible in the space provided. Please write anything within your lifetime you find relevant.
1. Extracurricular activities, school clubs or organizations you currently participate or have previously participated in (ex: spiritual groups, sports, activism, recreational activities, performances):
 2. Community organizations you are/have been a part of:
 3. Volunteer experience (ex: Food Bank, donation drives, community clean-ups, etc):
 4. Accomplishments or awards you have received and what year/semester:
 5. Other strengths, qualifications, and/or obstacles you have overcome you would like the application reviewers to consider:

The answers for this portion are not required, but should be filled out to the best of your ability to strengthen your application. You may write lists for this section.

- Part Two is comprised of essay questions that should be answered with no less than 1000 characters (a standard paragraph).
1. What does "nature" mean to you and how/when do you feel connected to it? Why do you want to connect people to nature?

- Nature creates, provides, and sustains life. The earth's natural resources are what support all of the ecosystems and organisms on the planet and should be preserved and respected. Exposing people to nature and teaching them of its importance can encourage future interest and stewardship of the environment. We (all people) need current and future generations to understand and respect the natural world in order to combat issues that we face in the modern world such as climate change, species habitat loss and fragmentation, lack of resources (available clean water, air, food) to support humans and wildlife...
2. Have you ever used your personal story to inspire change? If you have, give an example. If not, give a reason why that is the case.
 3. Tell us of one environmental problem you see in your community and where you believe the solution lies.
 - Give some concrete steps that you could possibly take to work towards said solution. Examples: Lack of connection with the environment and thereby decreased stewardship/conservation, dependency and comfort in technology and unfamiliarity with disconnecting and experiencing things independently first hand
 4. What steps do you take to ensure you continue to grow and develop as a leader?

After this section you will continue to the final question.

- Part Three is a project outline. This portion should be a preliminary project idea that will be developed throughout the Congress. At NYCALC you have the opportunity to potentially earn a mini grant to help put it into action upon return from the Congress. THIS IS THE ONLY PORTION THAT CAN BE COMPLETED AS A GROUP. IT CAN ALSO BE COMPLETED AS AN INDIVIDUAL. Answers should be complete sentences.

Directions: When brainstorming a conservation-based project consider your passions, skill sets, and your community's needs. Please outline your idea with the following format.
