worked with a project team to design sustainable solutions to complex problems using math, research, and community input. I enjoy visiting project sites and watching my proposals and solutions being turned into real-world results. I take pride in seeing people and communities use the parks, buildings, and tunnels I helped to create.

Example 3 (Master's Degree)

Looking for professional exposure with an MBA in Operations. I have proficiency in supply chain management and logistics management. In addition, I have strong communication, customer service, and presentation skills that would be an asset to a position in a federal agency. Ideally, I would like a position in supply chain management, but I am open to using skills acquired through my MBA in a human resources or equal employment opportunity role.
