

Author Full Name : Catherine Sullivan

Received Date : 02/12/2026 02:50 PM

Comments Received :

mPINC is a vital resource for public health practitioners working toward the implementation of evidence-based maternal and child health practices.

There are few sources of data that share details on what specific maternity care practices are provided to maternity care families in the US.

The CDC's mPINC survey demonstrates to hospital administration that measuring these aspects of care provided to families during their labor and delivery matters. Measurement promotes accountability and drives the culture of improvement.

Please see letter of support with additional comments.