General Comment

The Ticket to Work program allows those with disabilities the opportunity to retrain through vocational rehabilitation in a field that works with their disabilities. Providing a person with the opportunity to work increases their quality of life. The Ticket to Work program offers a trial period for the beneficiary. As a disabled veteran, it is beneficial for people to be in the workforce and be able to provide for their families and themselves. It is not beneficial to institutionalize those with disabilities where they may live in conditions of squalor.
