

Supporting Statement for the Consumer Complaint Form and Interagency Appraisal Complaint Form
(FR 1379; OMB No. 7100-0135)

Summary

The Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (Board), under authority delegated by the Office of Management and Budget (OMB), has extended for three years, without revision, the Consumer Complaint Form and Interagency Appraisal Complaint Form (FR 1379; OMB No. 7100-0135). This information collection comprises the following two reports:

- Consumer Complaint Form (FR 1379c) is for consumers to submit a complaint against a financial institution and
- Interagency Appraisal Complaint Form (FR 1379d) collects information about complaints regarding a regulated institution's non-compliance with the appraisal independence standards and the Uniform Standards of Professional Appraisal Practice, including complaints from appraisers, individuals, and other entities.

The estimated total annual burden for the FR 1379 is 1,192 hours. The forms and instructions are available to file or download on the Board's public website at <https://www.federalreserveconsumerhelp.gov/>.

Background and Justification

A 1976 staff report by the Subcommittee on Consumer Affairs of the House Committee on Banking, Currency and Housing recommended the periodic evaluation of the Federal Reserve's complaint-handling system. In response, the Board developed the Consumer Satisfaction Questionnaire (FR 1379a) in May 1977 to be sent to consumers whose complaints against state member banks were referred to a Federal Reserve Bank for investigation. In 1999, the Board extended distribution of the questionnaire to all consumers who have filed complaints involving state member banks and began requesting that consumers provide certain demographic information.

In November 2007, the Federal Reserve launched a project to centralize and streamline the intake of consumer complaints and inquiries. A new central site was established, the Federal Reserve Consumer Help (FRCH), which provided consumers with a single point of access to the Federal Reserve for addressing complaints and inquiries. In an effort to ensure that the FRCH was adequately serving consumers, the FRCH - Consumer Survey (FR 1379b) was implemented to allow the Federal Reserve to better assess how FRCH staff were handling consumer complaints and inquiries. In an effort to improve the speed of the process by which complaints are handled, the Consumer Online Complaint Form (FR 1379c) was implemented to provide consumers with an electronic mechanism for filing their complaints. The FR 1379c asks consumers for specific information about the complaint in order to minimize follow up calls to the consumer. However, in February 2023, the Board discontinued the FR 1379a and FR 1379b surveys because they had not administered these surveys to consumers in at least 10 years and did not foresee a need to administer those surveys in the future.

In 2012, the Interagency Appraisal Complaint Form (FR 1379d) was created to assist in efforts to oversee the appraisal practices of Board-supervised institutions. Appraisal complaints are submitted to the appropriate agency using the Interagency Appraisal Complaint Form and are filed directly by an appraiser, other individual, financial institution, or other entities.

In November 2017, the Federal Reserve System launched the FRCH website, <https://www.federalreserveconsumerhelp.gov/>, a new centralized resource that consolidated and streamlined the Federal Reserve System's intake of consumer complaints and inquiries. This change was made to improve online capabilities to communicate with consumers and to consolidate the complaint intake function for the System. The FR 1379c can be accessed, along with the FR 1379d, through this website. The FRCH is operated by existing call centers and staff at the Kansas City and Minneapolis Reserve Banks.
