Advanced Methods to Target and Eliminate Unlawful Robocalls, CG Docket No. 17-59

The new collection by the Federal Communications Commission should be Approved for the necessary updates to Operational Procedures standards for appropriate safeguards to protect privacy and security of subscribers and keeping records of service providers' reporting and accountings under one single uniform system for compliance of the enactments of the Small Business Paperwork Relief Act of 2002, the Telecommunications Act of 1996, and the Telephone Consumer Protection Act. This will also provide for Administrators with levels of authority to determine whether a number has been permanently disconnected from a service provider's network system and a new telecommunications system to maintain all providers records of their customers and their type of service the customer authorized as part of their service plan.
