

Several people where I specifically live have asked for accommodations such as a ramp because they have steps leading up to their porch and front door. They were told no because they all want the units to look the same. But other units have ramps in the front as well as the back. Myself have turned in a few letters of accommodations from my doctor because "they didn't have any record". I have reported several times I can't get out the door with a small round basket and definitely no way to get out with a wheelchair. We were told just because my Doctors ask for accommodations THEY DON'T HAVE TO DO THEM. Some people here pay no gas,electricity or rent but have several cars. The office will tell them don't tell anyone your not paying gas,electricity etc. It's different rules for different people. They know people are working but it only matters depending on who it is. Same goes for people having aggressive dogs and people who a records living with others. And how did Mr Wilson get his job with an adult FELONY.
