Moderator and co-moderator introductions

Thank you for taking the time to speak with us today. We are from Mathematica, an independent research firm, and we are here to learn about your experiences with [SRAE program name]. My name is [name], and my colleague is [name].

Explanation of project and purpose of discussion

We are doing a study on classes like [SRAE program name]. The study team would like to hear directly from youth that participated in the programming to understand their experiences, feedback, and suggestions. The study’s findings may help improve future programming for youth in these settings across the country.

During our discussion today, we are interested in learning about your impressions of these classes, the topics covered in class, and your interactions with the program facilitator. We will use the information you share with us to write a summary of what we have learned, but we will not use any of your names, so please feel free to talk openly about your opinions. All information will be kept private to the extent permitted by law.

Ground rules for discussion

Before we start our discussion, we want to give you some ground rules about how our time together will go:

- Participation in today’s discussion is voluntary. That means you do not have to participate, and you can choose to stop participating at any point.

- Please do not discuss anything we talked about in today's focus group with anyone outside of this group. Everything we talk about should remain private within this group.
- Please avoid sharing any personal or sensitive information during the focus group so that information can remain private.
- The discussion will last about 40 minutes.
- There are no right or wrong answers to the questions we will ask. We are interested in learning each of your opinions. We very much appreciate your participation today.
- To keep us on schedule, I may change the subject or move ahead from time to time.
- We will be taking notes and audio recording the session, but everything you say will be kept private to the extent permitted by the law.
- The recording and notes will be kept in a secure location for the study team to use, and we will destroy the information at the end of the study.
- We might share the recordings with outside partners to transcribe notes, but your name will not be included in the recording.
- You will receive a gift card for participating in this conversation.
- Does anyone have any questions before we begin?

Please note: An agency may not conduct or sponsor, and a person is not required to respond to, a collection of information unless it displays a currently valid OMB control number. The OMB number for this information collection is 0970-0531 and the expiration date is 09/30/2028.
