Variable Names

When variable names that are different from those specified in the template when you upload your site's data, please make a crosswalk as in this example. In this crosswalk, you will match the variable used in your uploaded file to the variable names that we have in our codebook and template. In this example, the variables on the left correspond to the variable names found in the codebook and the variable names on the right represent the names as they appeared in their upload. Each row indicates two variables that contain the same information despite having different names. For example, `evalID` is the same as `evalID`. You must share this crosswalk
