An asylum officer will interview you under oath and make a determination concerning your claim. In most cases, you will not be notified of the decision in your case until a date after your interview. You have the right to legal representation at your interview, at no cost to the U.S. Government. You may also bring witnesses with you to the interview to testify on your behalf. If you are unable to proceed with asylum interview in fluent English, you must provide, at no expense to USCIS, a competent interpreter fluent in both English and a language that you speak fluently. Your interpreter must be at least 18 years of age. The following person cannot serve as your interpreter: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Your attorney or representative of record;</li> <li>• A witness testifying on your behalf at the interview; or</li> <li>• A representative or employee of your country.</li> </ul> Quality interpretation may be crucial to your claim. This assistance must be obtained at your expense prior to the interview. Failure without good cause to bring a competent interpreter to your interview may be considered an unexcused failure to appear for the interview. Any unexcused failure to appear for an interview may prevent you from receiving employment authorization, and your asylum application may be dismissed or referred directly to the Immigration Court. | If USCIS decides to conduct an asylum interview about your application, you will be notified by the USCIS Asylum Office of the time, date, and place (address) of any scheduled interview. If you are scheduled for an interview, USCIS recommends that you bring a copy of your Form I-589 with you when you have your asylum interview. If the A-Number is fewer than 9 digits, the system will automatically add zero(s) after the "A" and before the first digit so there is a total of 9 digits, for example: A-001234567.                                                                                                                 |       |           |                                       |

|             |               | (If yes)          | C.1.3     | Explain why you did not file within the first year after you arrived. You must be prepared to explain to your interview or hearing why you did not file your asylum application within the first year after you arrived. For guidance in answering this question, see Instructions, Part 5: Filing Instructions, Section V, Completing the Form, Part C. | Explain why you did not file within the first year after you arrived. The Government will accept an explanation certain changes in the conditions in your country, certain changes to your own circumstances, and certain other events that may have prevented you from applying earlier.For example, some of the events the Government might consider as valid explanations include but are not limited to the following:• You have learned that human rights conditions in your country have worsened since you left.• Because of your health, you were not able to submit this application within 1 year after you arrived.• You previously submitted an application, but it was returned to you because it was not complete, and you submitted a complete application within a reasonable amount of time.If applicable, include with your application any proof of class membership in the A-1 Settlement Agreement, which includes specific accommodations with regard to the one-year filing deadline for class members who meet certain settlement-related deadlines. See Ms. L. et al. v. ICE , Civ. No. 1:19-cv-05428 (D. Cal.) [2023].Federal regulations specify some of the other types of events that may also qualify as valid explanations for why you filed late. These regulations are found at 8 CFR sections 208.4 and 208.6. These regulations also explain your burden of proof. The list in the regulations is not all inclusive, and the Government recognizes that there are many other circumstances that might be acceptable reasons for filing more than 1 year after arrival.Your written explanation may be your only opportunity to have an asylum officer consider your reasons. If you are scheduled for an asylum interview or a hearing with an immigration judge, you must be prepared to explain at your interview or hearing why you did not file your asylum application within the first year after you arrived.If you are unable to explain why you did not apply for asylum within the first year after you arrived in the U.S. or your explanation is not accepted by the Government, you may not be eligible to apply for asylum, but you could still be eligible for withholding of removal under INA section 241(b)(3), or for protection from removal under the Convention Against Torture. | Text input |                    |        |              |       |        |           |       |  |  |
