

Bob Scopatz comment submitted as text:

I fully support this data collection effort. The research methodology is sound and participation is voluntary. The information gathered will have value for regulating the in-vehicle connected devices and for OEMs designing the next generation of in-vehicle systems