Hi, Jennifer.

Thank you for bringing this to our attention. I took a closer look into both collections to check for potential overlaps, and I have some good news: the two forms are actually distinct and serve different purposes, so there is no duplication between the forms.

Here's a breakdown of the differences:

- Your PRA package (2502-0204): Includes Form HUD-27061-H (attached). This specific form is designed to capture individual race and ethnicity data by household.
- OCFO's PRA package (2535-0113): Includes Form HUD-27061. This is an aggregate grant summary form intended to serve as a high-level roll-up of total data, containing no individual household-level information.

Because one collects granular household data and the other functions purely as a macro-level summary, the two packages complement each other rather than conflict.

If I am missing an underlying nuance or if you have additional context, please let me know. I am more than happy to sync up tomorrow morning to discuss further.

Best regards,
Christine

Christine/Kate,
FYI.

P.S. I am on the 6th floor over in W6219. Happy to talk in person if you like. I can also share a copy of the revised 27061 that is at OMB awaiting approval, if you like.

Hi. You can feel free to coordinate with CFO directly... but will you keep us looped in if anything major happens?

Hi Karolyn,

CFO has something in today's Federal Register that has overlap (conflicts, really) with our HOTMA forms information collection; specifically, form H-27061 \(Race and Ethnic Data Reporting Form\), which is included in 2502-0204 (HOTMA forms) and has been at OMB for approval for some time now, is apparently also included in a separate information collection managed by CFO. We have substantially revised the form as part of our updates to 2502-0204. This means that the version on which CIO seeks comment has already been revised (by us) in response to public comments.

PSMO has also made systems changes to TRACS to reflect the changes we made to the form. If CFO intends to make further revisions to the form, there will be systems implications ($) in addition to potentially causing confusion among Multifamily stakeholders.

Some coordination with CFO is needed, at a minimum to make them aware that the form has already been revised – though not yet posted to HUDCLIPS. Let me know if you would like to coordinate with CFO or if you prefer that we do it directly.

Another day at HUD!

Jennifer
