RE: Non-Substantive Revision to Post-Examination Survey (OMB Control No. 3064-0218)

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation is requesting approval of a non-substantive revision to its Post-Examination Survey, approved under OMB Control Number 3064-0218. The survey is used to obtain feedback from financial institutions following FDIC risk management and consumer compliance examinations.

The proposed revisions update terminology in the survey to conform to the FDIC's implementation of Part 305 of the FDIC Rules and Regulations, "Enforcement and Supervision Standards." Specifically, references to "Supervisory Recommendations" and similar references to supervisory recommendations, when used to describe examination findings or supervisory communications, are being replaced with the term "Matters Requiring Attention" or "MRAs."

The revisions are limited to terminology and conforming language. They do not change:

- The purpose or intended use of the survey;
- The financial institutions invited to respond;
- The frequency or method of collection;
- The information requested from respondents;
- The number or type of survey questions;
- The response options or survey format, except as necessary to conform to the updated terminology;
- The confidentiality treatment of responses; or
- The estimated reporting burden.

Accordingly, the FDIC requests that OMB approve the attached revised Post-Examination Survey as a non-substantive revision under OMB Control Number 3064-0218. The attached redline identifies the proposed edits, and a clean version of the revised survey is also provided for OMB's review.
