I-485 Supplement A, Supplement A To Form I-485, Adjustment Of Status Under Section 245(i)

Use Supplement A to Form I-485, Adjustment of Status Under INA Section 245(i) (Supplement A), only if you are applying to adjust status to that of a lawful permanent resident under the Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) section 245(i). You may file Supplement A only if you are filing your Form I-485, Application to Register Permanent Residence or Adjust Status, at the same time or if you previously filed your Form I-485 and it remains pending.

If you are disqualified from adjusting status under INA section 245(a), you may be eligible to adjust status under INA section 245(i). For more information on who may be disqualified from adjusting under INA section 245(a), see the Bars to Adjustment and Grounds of Inadmissibility section.

You should use Supplement A if you seek to adjust status under INA section 245(i).

You cannot adjust status based on filing Supplement A alone. You must also file Form I-485 and be eligible for a visa under a family-based, employment based, special immigrant, or Diversity Visa immigrant category. Supplement A and Form I-485 are used to determine whether you qualify for INA section 245(i) adjustment.

1 Before You Start Your Supplement

Eligibility

Use Supplement A if you are applying to adjust status under INA section 245(i). You may file Supplement A when:

- You are filing your Form I-485 at the same time; or
- You previously filed your Form I-485 and it remains pending.

You may file Supplement A only if:

- ONE of the following applies to you:
  - You are or were the principal beneficiary of an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification properly filed on or before January 14, 1998, which was approvable when filed;
  - You are or were the principal beneficiary of an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification properly filed on or after January 15, 1998, but on or before April 30, 2001, which was approvable when filed and you were physically present in the United States on December 21, 2000;
  - You are or were the derivative beneficiary of an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification filed on or before January 14, 1998, which was approvable when filed;
  - You are or were the derivative beneficiary of an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification properly filed on or after January 15, 1998, but on or before April 30, 2001, which was approvable when filed and the principal beneficiary was physically present in the United States on December 21, 2000; or
  - You are currently the spouse or child (unmarried and under 21 years of age) eligible to accompany or follow-to-join your spouse or parent who is a principal or derivative beneficiary.

An immigrant petition is considered properly filed if the:

- Petitioner properly signed the petition;
- Petitioner submitted the correct filing fee; and
- Petition was physically received at a designated USCIS office (then known as the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS)) on or before April 30, 2001 or was mailed with a postmark on or before April 30, 2001 (regardless of when INS received it).

A permanent labor certification application is considered properly filed if the U.S. Department of Labor (or a designated state workforce agency) accepted the application on or before April 30, 2001, under applicable Federal regulations at the time.

AND

- ALL of the following apply to you:
  - You are physically present in the United States;
  - You are eligible to receive an immigrant visa because you are the current beneficiary of an immigrant petition or you were selected for a Diversity Visa for the current fiscal year (or because you are the spouse or child (unmarried and under 21 years of age) eligible to accompany or follow-to-join your spouse or parent who is a principal or derivative beneficiary);
  - An immigrant visa is immediately available to you at the time you file your application;
  - You are admissible to the United States for lawful permanent residence or eligible for a waiver of inadmissibility or other form of relief; and
  - You are paying the required filing fee as described in Form G-1055, available at the G-1055 Fee Schedule Page.

Note: Visit the Visa Availability and Priority Dates page to determine whether an immigrant visa is immediately available.

Current Family Member of Principal Applicant

If you qualify to file under INA section 245(i) because you are the current spouse or child (unmarried and under 21 years of age) who is eligible to accompany or follow-to-join a principal applicant for adjustment of status under INA section 245(i), you must file Form I-485:

- At the same time as the principal applicant files Form I-485;
- After the principal applicant filed a Form I-485 that remains pending a final decision by U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS); or
- After the principal applicant was granted lawful permanent residence under INA section 245(i) (as long as the principal applicant is still currently a lawful permanent resident) and at the time of that approval, you were the principal applicant's spouse or child.

Bars to Adjustment and Grounds of Inadmissibility

Bars to Adjustment

In general, you are not eligible for adjustment of status based on INA section 245(a) if any of the adjustment bars apply to you. See INA section 245(a) and (c) for more information on these adjustment bars, including whether an exemption might apply to you.

If one or more of the below adjustment bars applies to you and you are not exempt under INA sections 245(a), (c), or (k), you must qualify under INA section 245(i) to adjust.

- You last entered the United States without being admitted or paroled after inspection by an immigration officer;
- You last entered the United States as a nonimmigrant crewman;
- You are now employed or have ever been employed in the United States without authorization;
- You are not in lawful immigration status on the date of filing your application for adjustment of status;
- You have at any time failed to continuously maintain a lawful status since entry into the United States, unless your failure to maintain status was through no fault of your own or for technical reasons;
- You were last admitted to the United States in transit without a visa;
- You were last admitted to the United States as a nonimmigrant visitor without a visa, under the Guam and Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands Visa Waiver Program, and you are not a Canadian citizen;
- You were last admitted to the United States as a nonimmigrant visitor without a visa under the Visa Waiver Program;
- You are seeking employment-based adjustment of status, and you are not maintaining a lawful nonimmigrant status on the date of filing your application for adjustment of status; or
- You have ever violated the terms of your nonimmigrant status.

Note: If the bars do not apply to you or you are exempt, then you do not need to adjust under INA section 245(i) and you should not file Supplement A.

Grounds of Inadmissibility

If you are inadmissible to the United States, you may not adjust to lawful permanent resident status. You can find more information at our the grounds of inadmissibility page listed in INA section 212(a).

If you are inadmissible, you may be eligible for a waiver or other form of relief. If your waiver application or other form of relief is granted, USCIS may approve your application to adjust status.

You can learn more about waivers and other forms of relief by reading the Instructions for Form I-601, Application for Waiver of Grounds of Inadmissibility, and Form I-212, Application for Permission to Reapply for Admission into the United States After Deportation or Removal.

Qualifying Immigrant Petitions Under INA Section 245(i)

You may use one of these petitions or applications to qualify under INA section 245(i), if it was properly filed and approvable when filed on or before April 30, 2001:

- Form I-130, Petition for Alien Relative;
- Form I-140, Immigrant Petition for Alien Worker;
- Form I-360, Petition for Amerasian, Widow(er), or Special Immigrant (including VAWA self-petitioners);
- Form I-526, Immigrant Petition by Alien Investor; or
- Form ETA-750, Application for Alien Employment Certification, Parts A and B.

If you are using an immigrant petition to show that you qualify for adjustment under INA section 245(i), provide the receipt number of the petition in the Getting Started section (if available). If you are using a permanent labor certification application to qualify, you do not need to complete that question in the Getting Started section.

Note: If you use one of the petitions listed in this section to qualify to apply under INA section 245(i), you may be able to use the same petition to establish eligibility for an immigrant visa, or you may establish eligibility for an immigrant visa based on another petition or on being selected for a Diversity Visa for the current fiscal year.

Immigration court proceedings

If you are in proceedings in Immigration Court (that is, if you have been served with Form I-221, Order to Show Cause and Notice of Hearing; Form I-122, Notice to Applicant for Admission Detained for Hearing Before an Immigration Judge; Form I-862, Notice to Appear; or Form I-863, Notice of Referral to Immigration Judge, that DHS filed with the Immigration Court), you should file this supplement with the appropriate Immigration Court. The DHS attorney will provide you with pre-order filing Instructions regarding background and security investigations. You must also submit a copy to USCIS. Please see the Immigration Benefits in EOIR Removal Proceedings webpage or visit the USCIS Contact Center's website for the most current information about where to file the copy of the application that you file with the Immigration Court.

Penalties

If you knowingly and willfully falsify or conceal a material fact or submit a false document with your Supplement A, we will deny your Supplement A and may deny any other immigration benefit. In addition, you will face severe penalties provided by law and may be subject to criminal prosecution.

Fee

We will automatically calculate the cost for you before you submit your application. For specific information about fees applicable to this form, see Form G-1055.

Fee waiver: If you are requesting a fee waiver, you cannot file online. You must file a paper version of both the Form I-912, Request for Fee Waiver and the form for the specific benefit you are requesting. You can review the fee waiver guidance at www.uscis.gov/feewaiver.

Refund policy: USCIS does not refund fees, regardless of any action we take on your application, petition, or request, or how long USCIS takes to reach a decision. By continuing this transaction, you acknowledge that you must submit fees in the exact amount and that you are paying the fees for a government service. Please refer to the instructions for the form(s) you are filing for additional information, or you may call the USCIS Contact Center at 800-375-5283. For TTY (deaf or hard of hearing) 800-767-1833.

Documents you may need

We will automatically determine which documents you should provide us as you fill out your supplement. At the time of filing, you must submit all evidence and supporting documentation listed.

Biometric services appointment

USCIS may require you to appear for an interview or provide biometrics (fingerprints, photograph, and/or signature) at any time to verify your identity, obtain additional information, and conduct background and security checks, including a check of criminal history records maintained by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), before making a decision on your supplement or petition. If we determine that a biometric services appointment is necessary, we will send you an appointment notice with the date, time, and location of your appointment. If you are currently overseas, your notice will instruct you to contact a U.S. Embassy, U.S. Consulate, or USCIS office outside the United States to schedule an appointment.

At your biometrics appointment, you must sign an oath reaffirming that:

- You provided or authorized all information in the supplement;
- You reviewed and understood all of the information contained in, and submitted with, your supplement; and
- All of this information was complete, true, and correct at the time of filing.

If you do not attend your biometric services appointment, we may deny your supplement. For applicants and dependents who appear before an immigration judge, failure to attend a biometric services appointment, without good cause, may result in the immigration judge finding that your supplement was abandoned, and USCIS may also deny any other supplement you filed with USCIS.

Disability Accommodations/Modifications

To request a disability accommodation/modification, follow the instructions on your appointment notice or on the Disability Accommodations for the Public page.

Translation

If you submit a document with information in a foreign language, you must also submit a full English translation. The translator must sign a certification that the English language translation is complete and accurate, and that they are competent to translate from the foreign language into English. The certification must also include their signature, printed name, the signature date, and their contact information.

USCIS Contact Center

For additional information on the application and Instructions about where to file, change of address, and other questions, visit the USCIS Contact Center page or call at 800-375-5283 (TTY 800-767-1833). The USCIS Contact Center provides information in English and Spanish.

Address change

You must notify USCIS any time you change your mailing address or your physical address. You must notify us no later than 10 days after making such change. For information on changing your address, visit our change of address page, or call the USCIS Contact Center.

If you are already in proceedings in Immigration Court, you must also notify the Immigration Court on Form EOIR-33/IC, Change of Address/Contact Information Form, of any changes of address within five days of the change in address. The Form EOIR-33/IC is available on the EOIR website at or can be filed online at EOIR's Respondent Access.

Note: Do not submit a change of address request to the USCIS Lockbox.

2 After You Submit Your Supplement

Track your case online

After you submit your form, you can track its status through your USCIS account. Sign in to your account often to check your case status and read any important messages from USCIS.

Respond to requests for information

If we need more information from you, we will send you a Request for Evidence (RFE) or Request for Information (RFI). You can respond to our request and upload your documents through your USCIS account.

Requests for interview

We may request that you appear at a USCIS office for an interview based on your supplement. During your interview, USCIS may require you to provide your biometrics to verify your identity and/or update background and security checks.

What is the receipt number of the qualifying petition?

Provide the receipt number from the immigrant petition filed on or before April 30, 2001 that qualifies you to adjust status under INA section 245(i).

Provide a 13-character receipt number, beginning with 3 capitalized letters followed by 10 digits.

What is the principal beneficiary's full name on the qualifying petition?

Their current legal name is the name on their birth certificate, unless it changed after birth by a legal action such as marriage or court order. Do not provide any nicknames here.

Given name (first name)

Middle name

Family name (last name)

What is the principal applicant's A-Number?

The A-Number is an immigration file number provided by U.S. immigration officials. We use your A-Number to identify your immigration records. It is a 7 to 9-digit number that begins with an "A" and can be found on correspondence or cards you have received from DHS, USCIS, or on immigration court records (for example, Form I-797, Receipt Notice; an Employment Authorization Document; a Permanent Resident Card). If you do not have an A-Number, USCIS may assign one to you.

I do not have or know their A-Number.

Provide a 7, 8, or 9-digit number. If the A-Number is fewer than 9 digits, the system will automatically add zero(s) after the "A" and before the first digit so there is a total of 9 digits, for example: A-001234567.

What is your A-Number?

The A-Number is an immigration file number provided by U.S. immigration officials. We use your A-Number to identify your immigration records. It is a 7 to 9-digit number that begins with an "A" and can be found on correspondence or cards you have received from DHS, USCIS, or on immigration court records (for example, Form I-797, Receipt Notice; an Employment Authorization Document; a Permanent Resident Card). If you do not have an A-Number, USCIS may assign one to you.

☑ I do not have or know my A-Number.

Provide a 7, 8, or 9-digit number. If the A-Number is fewer than 9 digits, the system will automatically add zero(s) after the "A" and before the first digit so there is a total of 9 digits, for example: A-001234567.

What is your USCIS Online Account Number?

You will only have an Online Account Number, or OAN, if you previously filed a form that has a receipt number that begins with IOE. If you filed the form online, you can find your OAN in your account profile. If you mailed us the form, you can find your OAN at the top of the Account Access Notice we sent you.

Evidence Of Qualifying Petition Or Application

You must upload official documentation to prove that you:

- Are or were the principal beneficiary of an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification that was properly filed on or before April 30, 2001, and which was approvable when filed;
- Are or were a derivative beneficiary (the principal beneficiary's spouse or unmarried child under 21 years of age at the time the qualifying petition was filed) of an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification that was properly filed on or before April 30, 2001, and which was approvable when filed; or
- Are currently the spouse or an unmarried child under 21 years of age who is eligible to accompany or follow-to-join a principal or derivative beneficiary, and the principal or derivative beneficiary is currently applying for or was granted adjustment of status under INA section 245(i).

To prove the existence of a qualifying petition or application, upload an official document showing either:

- The filing or approval of the immigrant petition (Form I-797, Notice of Action), which contains the principal beneficiary's name; or
- The filing or approval of the permanent labor certification application (Form ETA-750), which contains the principal beneficiary's name.

If you qualify to apply for adjustment of status under INA section 245(i) because you are or were a derivative beneficiary of a qualifying petition or application, you must prove the required relationship to the principal beneficiary by submitting a marriage certificate (for spouse) or birth certificate (for child). This evidence must show that the claimed relationship existed at the time the qualifying petition was properly filed. You do not need to show that the relationship still exists.

If you qualify to apply for adjustment of status under INA section 245(i) because you are the current spouse or an unmarried child under 21 years of age of a person who is or was the principal or derivative beneficiary of a qualifying petition, you must submit evidence of your current relationship to the principal applicant.

Evidence Of Proper Filing

Upload evidence showing that the qualifying immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification was properly filed.

An immigrant petition is considered properly filed if the:

- Petitioner properly signed the petition;
- Petitioner submitted the correct filing fee; and
- Petition was physically received at a designated USCIS office (then known as the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS)) on or before April 30, 2001 or was mailed with a postmark on or before April 30, 2001 (regardless of when INS received it).

A permanent labor certification application is considered properly filed if the U.S. Department of Labor (or a designated state workforce agency) accepted the application on or before April 30, 2001, under applicable Federal regulations at the time.

Examples of evidence showing that your immigrant petition was properly filed:

- Form I-797 showing a qualifying date of filing. (Form I-797 showing a filing date indicates the U.S. Government accepted the petition and implies that the U.S. Government determined the petition was signed and submitted with the appropriate filing fee); or
- Form ETA-750 bearing a state workforce agency's date stamp, an agency letter, or other document specifying the date of receipt/filing.

File requirements

Evidence Of Petition's Or Application's Approval Or Approvable Status

Upload evidence showing that the qualifying petition or application was approvable when filed. An immigrant petition or labor certification application is considered approvable when filed if:

- The petition or application was properly filed;
- The petition or application was meritorious in fact; and
- The petition or application was not frivolous ("frivolous" meaning patently without substance).

Unless contradictory evidence exists, a final decision approving the required petition or application shows that the petition or application was approvable when filed. Such an approval consists of:

- An INS approval notice (on Form I-797) for the immigrant petition; or
- A U.S. Department of Labor certification stamp (on Form ETA-750) for the permanent labor certification application.

Absent an approved petition, you may upload any relevant evidence to show the petition or application was properly filed and approvable when filed. USCIS makes this determination based on the circumstances that existed at the time the qualifying petition or application was filed. A petition or application that was approvable when filed but was later withdrawn, denied, or revoked due to circumstances that arose after the time of filing may still qualify you for INA section 245(i) adjustment if you are otherwise eligible.

Evidence Of Physical Presence

Upload evidence showing that the principal beneficiary of the qualifying petition was physically present in the United States on December 21, 2000 (if applicable).

If you qualify to apply for adjustment of status under INA section 245(i) based on an immigrant petition or application for permanent labor certification filed on or after January 15, 1998, you must prove that the principal beneficiary of that petition or application was physically present in the United States on December 21, 2000.

In some cases, a single document may suffice to prove physical presence, but often you will need to submit several documents. USCIS will ordinarily place the greatest weight on government-issued documents. The following list gives examples of documents that you may upload as evidence of physical presence:

- Form I-94 Arrival/Departure Record, the nonimmigrant visa page of the principal beneficiary's passport, Form I-512L, or other U.S. Government-issued document showing admission or parole into the United States after inspection by an immigration officer;
- A Notice to Appear in Immigration Court;
- Official correspondence or other notices from a U.S. Government agency;
- A state driver's license;
- Income tax or property tax records, returns, or payments;
- School or college transcripts and records;
- Hospital or doctor's records;
- Lease agreements and rental receipts;
- Utility bill receipts;
- Employment records, such as payroll statements or pay stubs; or
- Bank and credit card statements and records.

Note: If you submit a personal affidavit attesting to physical presence, you must also submit other supporting documentation. USCIS will evaluate all documentation on a case-by-case basis.

If you qualify to apply for adjustment of status under INA section 245(i) based on an immigrant petition filed on or before January 14, 1998, you do NOT need to submit any evidence of physical presence.
